

PARKERSBURG

For Receipt

Since 1915 the basic three R's have branched out to include dramatics, speech and journalism.

The owl over the Senior Door symbolizes the wisdom to be gained on the other side. During the last thirty-five years it has seen continuous growth at P. H. S. It has seen the school expand steadily in size, activity, and curriculum. We hope it will gaze upon many more years of progress in our school and community.

Parkersburg High School, Parkersburg, West Virginia*

Vocational classes now provide practical learning, but music and art still furnish cultural knowledge.

Future scientists learn to use up-to-date machinery;

future homemakers learn the problems they will face.

The faculty has trebled in number since 1915.

CLASS SONG

P.H.S., HER SPIRIT LIVES

*Oh P.H.S., you mean to us
Much more than just a memory.
Your spirit guides us through the night;
The truths you give will lead us right.
Within our hearts will always live
The priceless teachings that you give.

These precious years for us you've cared;
Our laughter and our tears you've shared.
Farewell to books, games, high school dates,
So onward to our different fates.
Then hail, our Alma Mater dear,
To P.H.S.—a rousing cheer!*

Sitting: Connie Chambers, artist; Saranell Doak, typist; Stevie Broida, Nancy Cousten, Alice Enoch, editorial writers. Standing: Jim Paxton, artist; Shirley Harris, Sara Clark, editorial writers; Nancy Noblin, business manager; Allen Barber, sports writer. Not in picture: Miss Edmondson, adviser.

PARHISCHAN STAFF

Members of the Parhischan staff found, before the year had progressed very far, that they had agreed to do a job that required more time and effort than they had anticipated; but now that everything is finished and the book is distributed, as it will be when this is read, they feel a certain pride in their achievement.

When they held their first meeting, September 8, that there would be a 1950 Parhischan was a certainty (as certainties go), but what it would be and how it would be financed were uncertainties. They found how and with what materials yearbooks are compiled: pictures to be identified, trimmed, and mounted with rubber cement; dummies to be pasted; lists of names to be endlessly checked and rechecked for spelling; club write-ups to be struggled over; tickets to be numbered; shows to be arranged; food to be sold; covers, designs, and types to be selected; photographer's, printer's, and engraver's deadlines to be met; and a never-ceasing battle for accuracy to be waged.

All this wasn't drudgery, however; in fact, most of it was interesting though often nerve-wracking. Then there was much fun for fun's sake. We won't forget the times we spent with Mr. Osborne and Mr. Sorrels, our two good-humored and entertaining photographers. It was fun, in fact, just working with them. Then there were other parties and picnics. As a matter of fact, we picniced some as we worked because deadlines are no respecters of meal times. A sandwich sometimes tasted suspiciously of rubber cement.

We have appreciated the assistance of many people: teachers who performed for our faculty show, students who took tickets at the shows, the Senior Cabinet for letting us have the stand one day and the seniors who assisted, George Stevenson and Don "Mousie" Dye, who took many pictures for us, and the entire faculty and student body for supporting our shows.

Students may now select any one of eleven curricula.

JUNIOR HIGH STUDENT COUNCIL

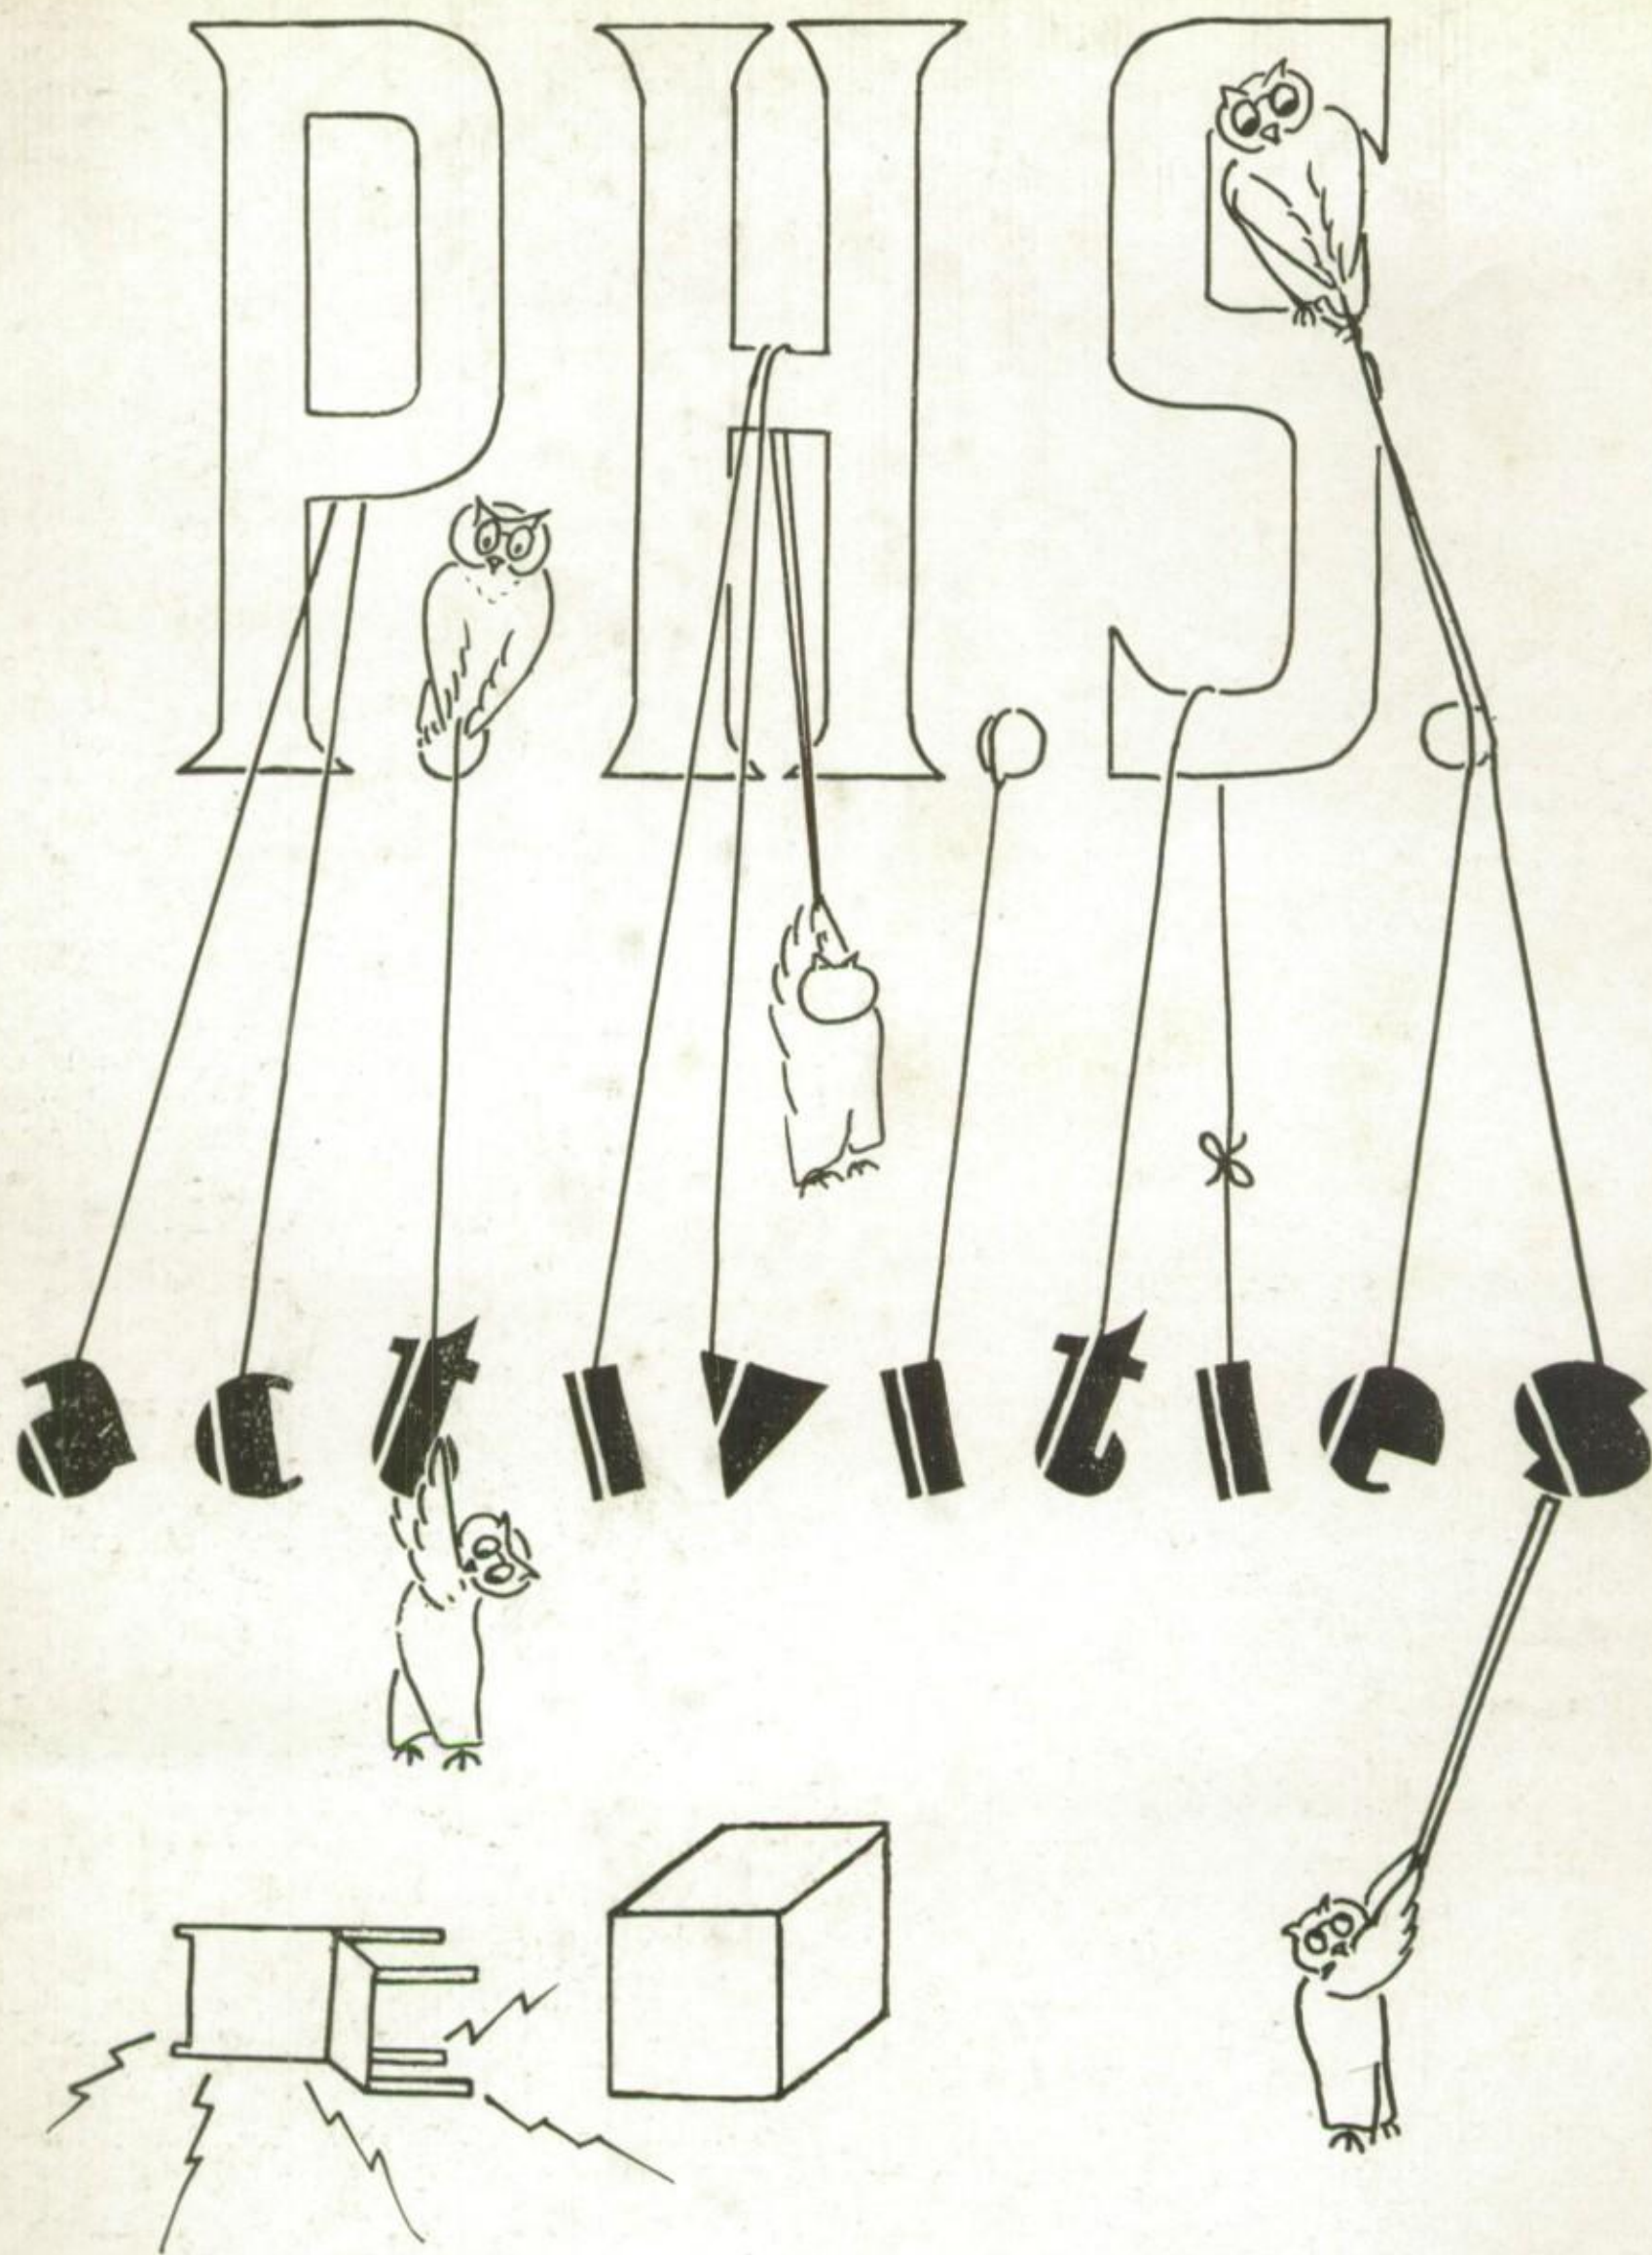

The purpose of the Junior High Student Council is to unify all student organizations in that part of the school under one general control, to foster sentiments of law and order, and to promote the general activities of the school. The Junior Council functions much as the Senior does, taking charge of almost all projects in which junior high students engage. The officers were: Louise Campbell, president; Jim Vasoti, vice president; Donna Jean Smith, secretary; Lois Conaway, treasurer.

SENIOR HIGH STUDENT COUNCIL

The Senior High Student Council, made up of fifty-one members, a representative from each room, cooperated with the faculty and students in helping supervise the activities and problems pertaining to school life.

The Council is responsible for the activity program; and that the job was well done is evidenced by the section of the yearbook this picture introduces. Each spring the Council makes a survey to determine the kinds of clubs the students want and the possibility of finding sponsors for those requested. Regardless of the interest a student might have, it would seem he should find an outlet for it among these groups. The activity program, however, is only part of the Council's work.

This year they devised a system for electing new officers, patterned after actual election procedure. The object was not only to provide a more democratic method for voting but also to teach students how to vote.

A nominating committee was appointed from the Council to select candidates for each office, the candidates to be either from the Student Council or from the student body. Registrations, carried on in each home room, were held during the last two weeks of March, and the elections were conducted during the first two weeks of May. The American problems classes held the election, because their members, who were seniors, did not vote. Polls were set up in different places throughout the school, each home room being assigned to a certain "precinct."

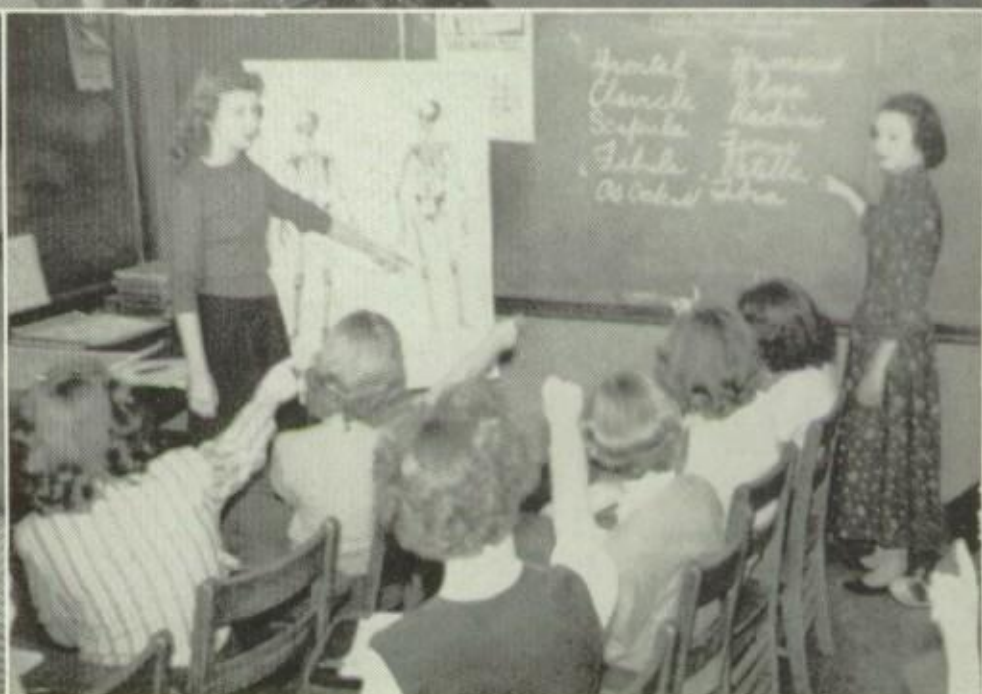

It was through the Council that the Red Cross service project was accomplished so successfully, as well as the health projects and Senior Career Day.

The officers were: Jo Ann Summers, president; Ernest Rice, vice president; Mary Lou Brafford, secretary.

CLUBDAY SCENES

We wondered, when we heard Miss Waller was sponsoring the Know Your Sports, but it turned out that Mr. Lanning was the sports mentor. Two typing clubs proved invaluable to typing students striving for proficiency. Evelyn Brake and Alice Rose Street were laying out the next Journal dummy when we visited Journalism Club. Left handed writers were the unusual rather than the usual in Writing Club. Fancywork clubs are favorites with us, and these two scenes might have been seen any club day.

CLUBDAY SCENES

The Senior High Y-Teens conducted the initiation ceremonial service for a junior high group. At a committee meeting, members of the Hi-Y, assisted by Mr. Fultineer, made plans for the future. Typical of our many book clubs are scenes like these, students selecting what they want to read, and teachers checking books in and out. 4-H girls were examining a project book on textiles in preparation for compiling their own. The Latin Club learned the Latin names of various parts of the human skeleton.

CLUBDAY SCENES

Typical of the indoor games clubs was this scene in 101. The Seventh Grade Dramatics Club had fun with their all-boy mock wedding. Industrious and attentive activity characterized the Model Airplane Club, where some beautiful models were built. Textile designing was popular when this picture was taken, but one art student attracted our attention with his dog heads. Lower left, the Thespians were trying out for the contest play; and lower right, the Junior-Senior Dramatics Club was staging an impromptu play.

AERONAUTICS CLUB

Film strips dealing with pre-flight, and a study of the book, Your Wings, occupied most club periods. The well equipped air mechanics shop proved valuable in the study of engines and body structure. Club officers were: Fred Weaver, president; Fred Martin, secretary.

JUNIOR HIGH ART CLUB

Finger painting, charcoal and pencil sketching, ceramic sculpturing, oil and water color painting, and leather crafts kept these students occupied. Their chief project was participation in the Scholastic Art Awards. The officers were: Eleanor Boso, president; Betty Jane Mahoney, secretary.

T-T ART CLUB

This club was open only to those who have had a year of art and are planning either a career or hobby in art. Entrance in the Scholastic Art Awards was the highlight of the season. The officers were: Don Whitlatch, president; Jim Paxton, secretary-treasurer.

DEAN'S ASSISTANTS

Miss Musgrave's visitors were always received by one of these smiling receptionists; and any girl being excused for an absence probably saw one of them handing out slips, recording excuses and absences, answering the telephone, or hurrying to deliver passes.

ATTENDANCE OFFICE ASSISTANTS

Mr. Warner's office was one of the busiest in the building, as anyone could tell who peeked in there, especially first period every morning when there was usually a long line of boys with excuses for absence and tardiness. The first duty of the assistant was to stamp the time on the absence slip and record the absence on the student's permanent record. Tardiness also was noted on these cards, which were filed in each pupil's folder.

While some assistants attended to this task, others took up the absence slips from classrooms. These were hurried back to the office to be listed on the yellow home room absence report. If anyone wondered how his home room teacher knew about that third period he had missed, the above should answer the question for him.

Each period, after this routine checking, writing, and filing had been completed, the assistants used their spare time answering the ever busy telephone, taking messages for Mr. Warner, when he was out of the office, and delivering pass slips to those guilty of suspicious or excessive absence.

Even after doing all these things, the girls and boys were often left with some spare time on their hands. This was usually devoted to homework and small talk. The extra time for homework was especially important because most of the assistants had given up their study period to work in this important office.

SENIOR HIGH ART CLUB

As in all the other art clubs, the Scholastic Art Awards played a major role in the life of these students. This club specialized in letting everyone do the kind of art work he most enjoyed. The officers were: Josephine O'Brien, president; Fred Mehl, secretary-treasurer.

CAFETERIA ASSISTANTS

The main work of the cafeteria assistants consisted of getting the dishes ready for the coming meal, assisting cooks with the serving, and cleaning up after lunch. A few of the group were given the responsibility of acting as cafeteria cashiers.

INFIRMARY ASSISTANTS

Duty in the infirmary gave these girls invaluable training in how to cope with emergencies. Under Mrs. Herdman's guidance they learned to administer first aid and to perform the routine duties of keeping records, washing glasses and spoons, making beds, and running errands.

MAIN OFFICE ASSISTANTS

A fitting nickname for these students might be "Mr. Conner's Handy Helpers and Intercom System." They ran errands, delivered pass slips, did a variety of office boy jobs, and operated the switchboard. Woe be unto the unlucky gal who disconnected a long-distance call to the school.

STITCH AND CHATTER CLUB—219

Participation in this fancywork club not only provided an outlet for the gossip which girls always seem to have on the tips of their tongues, but also proved a success as far as more practical skills are concerned. The girls spent their time very profitably during club periods. They worked to improve the types of stitching with which they were already familiar, and attempted new kinds of fancywork. In particular, many of the girls in the club learned to crochet. Miss Clawson is proud of the fact that she did not have to provide all the instruction; the girls themselves often helped each other with the various stitches.

Almost every girl in the club completed at least three or four different articles during the year. These included pillow cases, luncheon clothes, towels, doilies, and one girl even worked on a lace tablecloth. Almost all types of needlework were done except knitting.

The high light of the year was the display case exhibit of the finest pieces made. This exhibit was something to be really proud of, as it showed the skill the girls had attained.

Miss Clawson, who has sponsored this club for eight or nine years, reported that this year's club was one of the finest she has ever had the pleasure of sponsoring. The officers were: Martha Day, president; Ann McClung, secretary.

GYM ASSISTANTS

Refereeing, calling roll, checking absences, taking care of equipment, and locking doors, filled the time of these assistants. The boys acted only in the first capacity, but the girl assistants were regular gym students as well. They got exercise and aches plus credit for their work.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

Don't let the calm appearance of these assistants fool you, for they were among the busiest in P.H.S. They checked out books, filed cards, wrote those familiar overdue slips, replaced books, checked and filed magazines, and prepared new books by pasting in card envelopes and stamping them.

Not in picture: Helen McCloy.

REGISTRAR'S ASSISTANTS

Miss Allen's assistants are carefully selected, for it is through them that new students and many visitors receive their first impression of P.H.S. Showing visitors around was only one of their duties. Others included running errands, delivering pass slips, and helping care for locks.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB

This club was made up of Junior and senior girls who wished to continue the gym activities of their sophomore year. They followed the seasonal sports by playing hockey, softball, basketball, and volleyball. The officers were: Wilma Hackett, president; Betty Sue Sims, secretary-treasurer.

Boys' Athletic Club

Seventy-eight athletic minded boys combined efforts to make this year's club a great success. In this club those boys who were not members of the Big Reds or Little Reds had an opportunity to engage in the major sports at least once a week. Other sports such as handball, shuffleboard, ping-pong, box hockey, and volley ball also were enjoyed.

Because of the size of the organization it was necessary to break up into different groups with one member in charge of each division. The sports afforded a great amount of pleasure and at the same time helped the boys keep physically fit.

The club officers were: Robert Tebay, president; Bob Rake, vice president; Jim Hoffman, secretary; Bob Ramey, treasurer.

Not in picture: Shirley McAtee, Carolyn Dye, Marie Nesselroad, Jimmy Reese.

SENIOR HIGH BIBLE CLUB

The members of the Senior High Bible Club were all deeply interested in learning more about the Bible. This made for especially interesting club periods, which were spent studying various books of the Bible and having guest speakers. The officers were: Ernest Rice, president; Freda Battin, secretary.

JUNIOR HIGH BIBLE CLUB

This club differed from the Senior High Bible Club in that the study was more elementary since the members were so much younger. Among the variety of activities in which the group engaged were the pantomiming of Bible stories and the memorizing of Bible passages. The officers were: Jean Marshall, president; Ray Foster, secretary.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BOYS' BOOK CLUB

These boys spent their club hour each week reading, circulating, and discussing the latest books. On the list each was required to keep appeared the titles of biographical and scientific works, but Mrs. Fay, the sponsor, announced that books dealing with sports and animals were most popular. The officers were: James Roberts, president; Ronald Wine, secretary-treasurer.

ENTRE NOUS

Every fortnight this group ate supper in the library and engaged in lively discussions of their current reading. A high average, an English teacher's recommendation, and the approval of the members were the requirements for membership. The officers were: Jane Barrett, president; Gertrude Sullivan, vice president; Connie Chambers, secretary; Nancy Noblin, treasurer.

SENIOR GIRLS' BOOK CLUB

The girls of the Senior Girls' Book Club prided themselves on their interesting club periods, which resounded with lively discussions. Their prime purpose was to continue their training in learning how to choose books that have literary merit. The officers were: Clesta Dickson, president; Bonnie Simmons, secretary-treasurer; Evelyn McAtee, librarian.

JUNIOR GIRLS' BOOK CLUB

To evaluate the books they read, these juniors followed a definite course. They investigated an author's background to try to determine his purpose for writing a particular book, and then they gave their own observations based upon their reading and investigation. The officers were: Joan Kelly, president; Madeline Jackson, secretary.

SOPHOMORE BOYS' BOOK CLUB

It was the hope of the sophomore boys that they might gain an interest in reading that was more advanced than just animal and adventure stories. With this in mind they read a variety of books and in club meetings passed on their own observations to the others.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS' BOOK CLUB

When interviewing members of this book club, we found that they had had not only lively but, often, heated discussions about the books which they had been reading. Their purpose was to learn how to select worthwhile literature so that their leisure time reading would be as valuable as their required reading. Officers: Marjorie Willey, president; Nelva Gregg, vice president; Margaret Daniels, secretary; Betty Edmondson, treasurer.

COLLEGE CLUB

The members of the College Club spent their club hour very profitably. They learned about various colleges and universities, and each obtained a catalog from the college of his choice. From these bulletins and catalogs, each member collected and passed on valuable information.

Club periods were made interesting by guest speakers who represented a variety of schools. Among them were representatives from West Virginia University, Bethany College, and Ohio Wesleyan, who talked not only of their own school, but of colleges in general. They informed members of entrance requirements and just exactly what to expect from college.

Also, the club had speakers who did not officially represent any particular college, but had attended college and were well informed on the subject. Among these speakers were Mrs. William Jacobs, Mr. Joseph Handlan, Coach Lanning, and Mr. Fred Earley. They were all very entertaining as well as instructive and provided members with an accurate picture of college life. They spoke of such colleges as West Virginia University, Notre Dame, Ohio University, the University of Virginia, and Marietta College.

Other programs featured movies about colleges and vocations in which the members might be interested.

The highlight of the year was the trip the members took to a near-by college. This excursion was looked forward to with great eagerness, for on this occasion everyone could see college life in action.

All activities pointed to the prime purpose of the club: to provide each member with a more accurate picture of college life and to acquaint him with the academic possibilities of college.

The officers were: Mary Kay Gale, president; Shirley Harris, vice president; Dan Louney, secretary; Dorothy Nease, treasurer.

THESPIANS

The pinnacle of success has been reached as far as high school dramatics is concerned, when one is invited to join this group. Thespian Troupe 264 is the P.H.S. branch of a national organization for high school dramatics students.

To be eligible for Thespian membership, a student must have played one or two major roles and have done work of exceptionally high quality, and before he graduates must have had at least a year of dramatics. Those selected are initiated at a banquet held each spring.

Their meetings, held once a week, always opened with the Thespian pledge, which expresses the aims and ideals of the organization. After the regular order of business, a program was presented which usually consisted of some form of charades and pantomimes.

The troupe is brought before the public once a year in a three-act play, which has always been well received. This year it was the psychological thriller, An Inspector Calls, which was a hit on Broadway a few years ago. Another high spot of the year was the one-act play presented in a paid assembly, March 31. The play I'm A Fool, a comedy with a moral, met with an excellent reception.

This year, for the first time in several years, the local chapter did not participate in the annual regional and state festivals, in which they have heretofore consistently won honors for themselves and for the school. However, a group of students accompanied Mrs. Merrill to Huntington to witness the regional festival.

Being a member of Thespians is a great honor. All the members realize that when they remember the motto: "Act well your part; there all the honor lies."

The officers were: Fred Shriver, president; Phil Smith, vice president; Janet Ashby, secretary; Lois Starling, treasurer.

EIGHTH GRADE DRAMATICS CLUB

A requirement of this group was that each member participate in some phrase of acting whether it be a monologue, a pantomime, or a part in a play. Needless to say, everyone had fun. Their officers were: Carolyn McMillen, president; Sara Hipps, secretary; Marty Gainer and Mary McCauley, student sponsors.

NINTH GRADE DRAMATICS CLUB

The entire junior high school enjoyed the result of this group's club work when they presented their monologues and skits for an assembly program. The officers were: Rosemary Yeargo, president; Janet Merritt, vice president; Donna Jean Smith, secretary; Beverly Chambers, treasurer; Jeane Gainer and Jane Barrett, student sponsors.

Not in picture: Janet Wertenbaker.

SEVENTH GRADE DRAMATICS CLUB

The Seventh Grade Dramatics Club, under the direction of Miss Lowther, studied very hard the basic principles of acting and make-up. This club offered many opportunities for the students who were interested in learning the art of the grease paint business.

They were introduced to the rudiments of play production, stage planning, prop making, and costuming. Although quite young, they were able to understand the fundamentals of dramatics.

These boys and girls had many exciting times during their club hour. They were introduced to the monologue by older students who had prepared monologues for dramatics class. This particular type of production proved to be of special interest to them.

It is the desire of many of the group to become members of Thespian Troupe 264. Of course, they know that they will have to devote a great many hours to dramatics to accomplish this honor and that they will have to wait a few years before reaching their goal, but they are trying and have already gone through one whole year in this field.

To help these seventh grade students were two co-sponsors, Patricia Wright and Susan McGrail, who were of great assistance to the sponsor as well as the students. The president was James Wilson.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The F.F.A. is a national organization composed of boys studying vocational agriculture and is open to Vo-Ag students in grades nine through twelve. The boys devote many hours to keeping up the standards set by the state and national organizations. Most of these Future Farmers live in rural districts and in that way are better prepared to develop rural leadership.

Like the members of many other agricultural clubs, they specialize in various projects which are to be completed within a year's time. They strive to live up to their motto which is, "Learning to do, doing to learn, learning to live, and living to serve." Participating in these activities helps them develop character and teaches them how to carry the responsibilities of life.

The fifty-two boys enrolled in vocational agriculture planned to undertake a total of one hundred and fifty enterprises during the year 1950. Thirty-two completed a total of eighty-five home enterprises during 1949.

They met regularly and conducted their meetings according to parliamentary procedure. They also planned activities and discussed projects. During the year they selected public speakers and sports teams. Some of the possible projects were the raising of corn, potatoes, beans, alfalfa, oats, wheat, sweet corn, lespedeza, swine, poultry, dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, and rabbits, and gardening.

The officers were: Eugene Full, president; Erwin Lawson, vice president; Darrel Haught, reporter; William Martin, treasurer; William Harless, secretary; Everett Smith, doorkeeper; Gene Townsend, parliamentarian.

EMILY POST CLUB

With the aid of books from the library and Etiquette by Emily Post, the girls presented panel talks and held general discussions upon the correct behaviour and attitudes to maintain in everyday situations. The officers were: Thelma Reed, president; Barbara Savage, secretary; and Ruby Radcliff, treasurer.

JUNIOR HIGH FANCYWORK CLUB

The ability to do needlework is a skill most women and girls desire. These girls have learned how to embroider, crochet, and work needlepoint. Samplers, handkerchiefs, dresser sets, and luncheon cloths were among the articles they made this year. The officers were: Peggy Rogers, president; Betty Atkinson, secretary-treasurer.

Not in picture: Don Williams, Lee Rogers.

LITTLE RED FOOTBALL CLUB

This group was composed of the members of the Little Red Football team. The purpose of their club was to acquaint the members with the rules, regulations, and finer points of football. During their weekly meetings they studied the many different phases of this great national sport.

During football season, they spent most of their time planning for and looking forward to the next game to be played. They collected all the information they could obtain about their next opponent, and, the club period before the game, studied their kickoff pattern, their techniques of offense and defense, and the plays they used the most. They tried to pick out the weak spots in their formations and the type of playing that could be successfully used to hold them back. Sometimes special plays were learned for use in certain games.

The last game the Little Reds themselves had played was not forgotten. How to correct the mistakes they had made was a main topic for discussion. The old, reliable plays were not forgotten either. Their good points and the situations in which they could be used were given special attention. At the end of semester the lettermen of the Little Red team were advanced to the Big Red Football Club, where their education pertaining to football was continued in preparation of their going out next year for the Big Red team.

The officers were: Dale Cottril, president; Bernard Stutler, vice president; Bill Adams, secretary-treasurer.

BLUE FOOTBALL CLUB

Speaking and football are not usually associated, but the guest speakers for the Blues helped them with their fancy plays. The boys also saw movies and intramurals during the winter and when the weather was suitable, played football. The officers were: Dick Bowersock, president; Kenneth Tomar, secretary-treasurer.

RED FOOTBALL CLUB

Naturally the chief interest of these Junior High boys was the actual playing of football, but they also saw many football movies, especially those of our own Big Reds, and watched intramurals. The officers were: Walter Wolfe, president; Jimmy Holder, vice president; and Don Monroe, secretary.

NINTH GRADE GIRLS' INDOOR GAMES CLUB

The popularity of many new games may be credited to the work done by the enthusiasts who spent the year in this club. Under the supervision of Mrs. Fidler, they were acquainted with new games which they can enjoy themselves and in which they can lead others. The officers were: Patricia Bennett, president; Joan Carney, secretary.

SEVENTH-EIGHTH GRADE INDOOR GAMES CLUB

Every week the members selected three or four girls to be responsible for the next week's games. Each game had to be suitable for social affairs and had to be new. The officers were: June Tefft, president; Shirley Rardon, vice president; and Patty Wigal, secretary-treasurer.

JOURNAL STAFF

For the second year the Journal achieved outstanding success in the contest field by placing in the top classification as a First Honors High School Publication. This award was presented by the School of Journalism of West Virginia University.

The Journal went to press every other Monday, with the last deadline two days before press day. Each first year reporter had a news run which included regularly interviewing three or four classroom teachers and a home room. The teachers were asked for interesting incidents which had happened in their classes and facts about their line of teaching, while the home room classmates were asked to answer questions and give opinions on affairs which had been decided upon by the staff.

In order to be on the Journal Staff it was necessary to have a B average in English and a year of Journalism, the latter either completed before or being taken during the time of one's staff service.

Christmas, Valentine Day, St. Patrick's Day, and other special events were observed by having the paper printed in appropriate colors, with timely cartoons, editorials, and features. The Cub Issue, a new feature, printed entirely by the cub reporters with their own editors, and the second annual April Fool paper, which was indeed full of surprises, and promises of things to come, were two we enjoyed particularly.

The editors were: Audrey Peters, executive; Alice Rose Street, managing editor and news bureau head; Evelyn Brake, news; and Jack Mehl, sports.

JOURNALISM CLUB

Journal Day, the Journal talent festival, the subscription campaign, and other special projects along with the regular Journal work, which always had to be done to meet the fast approaching deadlines kept the members of the Journalism Club busy. The officers were: Audrey Peters, president; Ted Rake, secretary-treasurer.

JUNIOR HIGH KNITTING CLUB

Though many of this group of girls were new in our school this year, it was a matter of only a few meetings until all were working together in perfect harmony and the knitting needles were clicking away like mad. Scarfs, sweaters, and hats were among the articles completed before the year ended.

SENIOR HIGH KNITTING CLUB

Pocketbooks, booties, scarfs, and sweaters were some of the articles the members worked on during the year. Each girl knitted at her own rate of speed and after completing one article started another. It is understood that Miss Weir was especially pleased with this year's progress. The officers were: Phyllis Morris, president; and Lena Miller, secretary.

Row three: Richard Gilpin, Robert Tebay, Eugene Myers, Basil Lyons, Gene Brown, Ellis Carter, Carroll Dunbar, George Dowler, William Hofmann, James Townsend.

MODEL AIRPLANE CLUB

The membership of this club was made up of boys from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. Each boy was very much interested in the more intricate parts of model airplanes which most of us do not even know exist. The boys built a number of beautiful models during the year. The president was Bill Duckworth.

NOON MONITORS

The students who are noon monitors may be in any grade from the seventh through the twelfth. They do the school a very real service by sacrificing part of their lunch hour to do this work. Usually, they are excused from their third period classes a few minutes early so that they will be sure to have time to eat lunch.

NOON MONITORS

Their main duty is guarding the outside doors of the school until time for the admittance bell to ring. It takes a great many students to be on duty at all the doors, especially as they usually work together in couples. Another duty is to supervise the students who enter the building early either by special permission or on bad weather days. They must see that the girls stay on second floor and the boys remain on the first. Being a noon monitor is a commendable way to earn extra activity credits.

PERIOD AND MORNING MONITORS

Do you know how many monitors there are each period? Do you know what qualifications a student has to have to be one? Do you know what the duties of a monitor are? We believe only a few pupils are familiar with this unglamorous task.

During every period in the day there are seven monitors in the building and one in the bicycle shed, all of whom wear badges for identification. There is one girl in the northern half of the building on each floor and one boy in the southern half. The head monitor checks the attendance of the other monitors, supervises them, and reports any irregularities to the office.

"A good monitor is cooperative and responsible. He must attend school regularly and maintain a C average. He should feel that he has been placed there by the Student Council as a representative of the students," we learned from Miss Musgrave.

A monitor does more than just stand in the corridor for an hour. His main duty is to check all lockers in his area immediately after the bell rings. This protects the contents of the lockers of irresponsible students. He sees that no one loiters near them and that no one goes to his locker during class without a locker permit. Any lockers left unchecked are reported to Miss Musgrave and any locks not belonging to the school, to Mr. Warner.

Other duties include checking pass slips, picking up waste paper, taking care of the light switches, and generally supervising the corridor. Monitors do not attempt to enforce discipline, but, instead, report any trouble to the office.

The bicycle shed is never left unguarded. Monitors are constantly on duty, always watching for loiterers and students who come to the shed without permission.

VIVACE GLEE CLUB

These boys met every Monday and Wednesday to sing for their own enjoyment. Since many of them belonged to A Cappella Choir, they used their Vivace hours for pleasure instead of practicing scales. The songs they sang were the same type that the choir used, except that they were, naturally, for men's voices only.

Although they did not present an assembly during the year, the club appeared before the public in the P.H.S. Revue and the operetta, The Chimes of Normandy, which they presented in co-operation with the Marcato Glee Club. As always, these productions proved very popular with the audiences.

The songsters also helped Mrs. Cunningham by doing odd jobs and running errands for the music department. Any boy who likes to sing, appreciates music, and doesn't object to the work that goes with the fun, would enjoy Vivace.

The officers were: Bob Armstrong, president; Mike Doonan, vice president; Ben Stutler, treasurer; Lew Yeager, secretary; Mike Starkey and Jim Channell, librarians.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir is a popular musical group not only in Parkersburg High School, but also in the community, and even in other cities which have had the pleasure of hearing their performances. Under the able direction of Mrs. Esther Cunningham, this year's choir sang for many civic organizations as well as for assemblies here at the high school. These boys and girls, attired in their traditional red and white robes, with their equally colorful voices, always met with enthusiastic acclaim.

It is considered a high honor to be selected for membership in the A Cappella Choir. Some of the requirements are a year of voice training, and an enthusiasm and desire really to concentrate on developing a pleasant voice. After being accepted, the choir members spent weeks working on a single song, in order to perfect it for performance before an audience. Even after the constant drill on the song, the choir members still seem to get a great deal of enjoyment out of singing it before an appreciative audience.

This year's choir had 87 members, selected from the junior and senior classes. One really fine benefit received from membership in the choir is that after graduation a student may become a member of an alumni group which also meets regularly and gives annual concerts.

Every graduate of P.H.S. may look back with fond memories to the traditional Christmas assembly in which the Choir, carrying lighted candles, march down the aisles and up on the stage singing "Emmanuel."

A highlight of each spring season is the Spring Concert and, not to be overlooked are the operettas and minstrels, for which the choir supplies many performers. Another important event is the All-state Chorus tryouts for the results of which members anxiously await. The week before the list is posted the halls of P.H.S. resound with the sounds of "I wonder who made it," or "Has Mrs. Cunningham posted the list yet?" Competition was keen this year, and the fortunate few gave a splendid performance in Wheeling, April 12-14.

Last year the Choir inaugurated a series of annual spring trips when they spent a weekend in Washington, singing on Sunday at the church President Truman attends. (He was there that morning.) This year they went to Pittsburgh, where they gave a concert in Carnegie Hall.

The A Cappella Choir is indeed a musical group to be proud of, and it is certain that as long as there is an A Cappella Choir, it will always be greeted by an appreciative audience.

BIG RED BAND

After completing a year of numerous and delightful activities, the nationally famous marching and playing Big Red Band continues to stand foremost in the minds of all who heard or witnessed their fine performances at football games and concerts, or in parades. Parkersburg High School students are justly proud of their band, which has provided thousands of people with the best type of entertainment.

The year that has just passed inaugurated Director Charles Shackelford as maestro. He assumed complete command last June after the retirement of Mr. Dietz. All the boys have felt the influence of his superb leadership, encouragement, and excellent training.

A football game would not be the same without the appearance of the band at half time. The intricate military maneuvers the boys execute require long, tedious, backbreaking hours of practice after school, but the chore is a happy task for the nearly one hundred musicians. Four home room periods a week are devoted to rehearsals in preparation for their various appearances.

The training derived from this organization will prove a valuable asset to all throughout later life. That this is true can best be appreciated by the former band members, who are now engaged in a variety of work. Every year a number of musicians are granted scholarships from colleges who desire them in their college bands. In years past, four national marching and playing contests were won by the Big Red Band.

EIGHTH-NINTH GRADE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The members of this glee club were chosen from tryouts, which were held early in the school year. The girls' principal reason for joining the group was that they received great pleasure from singing.

This organization has several purposes. The chief of these is to cultivate in the members a greater interest in good music. The club provides the songsters with an opportunity to prepare for future music activities. In their weekly meetings, besides singing for pleasure, they learn harmony, good posture, proper breathing, and how to pronounce words and enunciate accurately. One of the greatest advantages this club affords is the opportunity to appear before an audience, and thus develop poise.

During the year the girls participated in four programs, each of which entailed much time spent in rehearsals outside the regular meeting period. The first of these was the junior high Christmas program. Besides the songs which they sang in assembly, they also sang their favorite carols during club period. The remaining three programs were presented in the spring. They participated in the junior high Easter assembly and during National Music Week in May, presented a student concert.

The high point of the year's performances was the junior high operetta. This production was called The Magazine Princess. It was the story of a young princess, who fled from her native country to avoid a state marriage. On arriving in this country, she began to sell magazines to earn a livelihood. Because of her fair beauty and regal demeanor, her friends, who didn't know she was a real princess, nicknamed her the Magazine Princess. Eventually she found her true "prince charming." They were married and lived happily ever after. This operetta was one of the most successful ever presented by the junior high music department.

For the girls who have been members of the Eighth and Ninth Grade Girls' Glee Club two years there is the added thrill of receiving the club pin, which is a miniature treble clef of silver.

Besides receiving great pleasure from their singing, these songsters have built a strong foundation for their future music activities.

Officers were Marty Howes, president; Carolyn Brown, accompanist.

Meeting each Thursday, this club was made up of junior and senior girls who loved to sing and had a knowledge of the fundamentals of music. It is one of the oldest organizations in the school and will always be remembered by the girls who have taken part in it.

The music they sang ranged from classical songs to ditties, the Marcato Song itself being the favorite. Some of the best liked club periods were those around Christmas when the always popular carols were sung with the help and

BOYS' CHOIR

The Boys' Choir could easily be called the most popular organization for boys in the junior high. This blue and white robed aggregation was a favorite drawing card at assemblies, although their angel voices were often offset by the devilish twinkles in their eyes.

Approximately one hundred boys from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades comprised the group. The tryouts for this honor were held at the beginning of school, and those who fulfilled the high standards met every Tuesday and Thursday during the year. After two years of earnest work, the boys receive silver pins.

For the Thanksgiving assembly they made their first public appearance of the year. When the strains of "We Gather Together" floated down the corridor, our hearts were warmed with the music that has become a Parkersburg High School tradition.

After Thanksgiving, everyone's thoughts turned toward Christmas, and the choir boys' were no exception. They presented, in collaboration with the Eighth and Ninth Grade Girls' Glee Club, a short play about the Nativity. This, with the traditional Christmas carols, was an excellent beginning to the holiday season.

The spring brought the annual Easter concert, with its traditional sacred music, and the operetta, Magazine Princess.

ORCHESTRA

The daily practice sessions of the members of this fifty piece organization resulted in our having an increasingly good orchestra, which is directed by Mr. Frank Gelber.

This year eighteen members made All-State Orchestra and went to Wheeling for the meeting April 13-15. These people represented the various sections, first and second violin, viola, cello, bull violin, flute, clarinet, percussion, and timpani.

The orchestra almost always played before and after all school assemblies, whether they were junior high, senior high, or sophomore. It was remarkable that amateur musicians had a large enough repertoire to do that.

Their major social engagement was the Spring Concert, held this year on May 5, in the auditorium of the school. The varied and difficult program included "Russian Sailor's Dance," Gliere; Waltz from "The Sleeping Beauty," Tchaikowsky; "The Toccato," Tresscobaldi, arranged by Hans Kindler; "The Ballade and Polonaise," Vieutemps, violin solo by Florence Adams with orchestra accompaniment; "Piano Concerto," Joseph Wagner, solo pianist Leona Chevront, with orchestra accompaniment; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," a choral prelude, Bach. Several out of town concerts also were given.

The overture, the chaser, and the entire accompaniment for the senior high operetta, The Chimes of Normandy, was played by the orchestra. The music was well received by the audience.

Since the Big Red Band is a military one and only boys can be in it, girls would have no opportunity to enjoy the field of instrumental music if it were not for the orchestra, which is open to both girls and boys. The girls greatly appreciated this opportunity.

The officers were: Leona Chevront, president; Shirley Parsons, vice president; Dolly Pitman, secretary; and Florence Adams, treasurer.

This year the chorus was composed of eighty-two hardworking girls who loved to sing. When interviewed, Mrs. Huston stressed the fact that the girls were hardworking because they had to be to stay in the chorus.

The members were required to be able to read music as well as to sing; they enjoyed singing their favorite spirituals and popular songs as well as semi-classical music. During their club period they worked and studied with three objectives in mind: to give creditable performances, to attain greater skill which might lead to membership in more advanced musical organizations, and to become so acquainted with each other that they might continue to work together harmoniously.

This year for the first time several programs were presented outside of the school, thus giving the members a chance to perform before various groups, and opening more opportunities for the choruses that will follow. During the Christmas holidays, in their lovely pastel sweaters and dark skirts, the distinguishing mark of the Sophomore Girls' Chorus, they sang for the Christmas parties of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Ladies of the Eastern Star.

Under Mrs. Huston's good humored and cheerful guidance, the members seemed never to mind the long hours of practice, both during and after school hours, which were necessary for their flawless performances.

On March 22 the chorus presented its annual Spring Assembly Program, which was enthusiastically greeted. The program consisted of: "Lift Thine Eyes" from Elijah, Mendelssohn; "Lead Us O Father," Newton; "Forget-Me-Not," Hahn; "Roll, Chariot," Cain; "It's Spring," Fred Waring; "Arkansas Traveler," Branscombo; and "Rockin' Time," Rhys-Herbert. A group of ten girls from the chorus sang: "Toy Land," Herbert; and "Po' Little Lamb," a dialect song by Parks. Several solos, both vocal and piano, were also presented.

Members of the chorus also participated in the Holy Week services at the high school the week before Easter.

The officers were: Gloria Corey, president; Ann Alexander, secretary-treasurer; Barbara Flinn, accompanist.

SEVENTH GRADE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

This large junior high musical organization was composed of girls who have pleasant singing voices and a reasonable understanding of music. The instruction they received from Mrs. Huston is chiefly foundational work for future musical activities in the more advanced musical organizations of the school.

At their weekly meetings they enjoyed singing songs with which they were already familiar and also were kept busy learning new and entirely different tones. In addition, this group of exactly sixty girls thoroughly enjoyed planning and preparing the two programs in which they participated. These were the Christmas program given for the junior high, and the Spring Talent Show. Both performances were very successful and were considered among the best of those presented for the junior high. Through these activities these girls have gained a fund of musical knowledge.

The officers were: Jane Pfalzgraf, president; Glada Hopkins, secretary; Gale Ardman and Janet Butcher, librarians.

These tenth graders, working in small units, demonstrated variations of "learning by doing." Local business men and women visited and gave inside information on store work. They learned that worker enthusiasm and efficiency are keynotes in training for retailing. The officers were: William Carvell, president; Robert Davis, vice president; Patsy Dowler, secretary-treasurer.

PENMANSHIP CLUB

Although the mechanics of writing—posture and all that—may seem a dull matter to most of us, enjoyment can be placed high on the list of benefits derived from this club. GENERAL STUDENT ASSISTANTS

These student assistants were the "right hand men" for many teachers. After nine months of checking spelling, attempting to decipher poor writing, and helping to mark papers, they had at least an idea of what endurance it takes to be a teacher. They also did such routine tasks as taking the roll, recording absences, and running numerous errands.

SPEECH

Those interested in speech as an extracurricular activity are probably listed as members of the clubs shown on the opposite page.

The Senior High Speech Club engaged in a variety of activities, studying the different types of public speaking, giving orations, and making recordings of their voices. The main event of the year was participation in the Senior West Contest, an event of general interest throughout the school. The officers were: Carl Schimke, president; Barbara Frederick, secretary-treasurer.

Masque and Gavel, the national honorary speech organization, has in its membership a select group who have displayed outstanding ability in speech events. This group sponsors the West Contest, not only participating in the various events, but also furnishing the required workers—master of ceremonies, timers, etc.—from among their numbers. Masque and Gavel also takes part in the last senior high assembly of the year, Tap Day, when new members are officially "tapped" into the organization. The officers were: Jim McCool, president; Lois Starling, secretary.

The Junior High Speech Club, the youngsters in this department, looked to the older speech students for assistance, calling upon them to be guest speakers. They practiced for the Junior West Contest by giving orations and debates during their club periods. The officers were: Wanda Moore, president; Judith Sams, secretary.

WHITTLERS' CLUB

Whittling is truly a fascinating hobby, and one which almost everyone can afford and enjoy. All you need are a knife and a piece of wood. Any boy in the tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grades may become a member of this club. The only requirement is that each member must do at least one acceptable piece of work during the year. The most efficient members are able to carve more than the one required piece.

When Mr. Owens, the sponsor of the club, was interviewed, he displayed a few articles carved by past members. They were clever pieces of workmanship, which showed the skill and perseverance of the artists. Some were: wooden figures, unusual plaques, clever puzzles, and different kinds of chains.

Besides being an entertaining hobby, whittling can be profitable. There are often opportunities for an accomplished woodcarver to gain employment. Many times woodwork in the interior of homes is hand carved. Sometimes even the furniture is carved by such a craftsman. The work is, of course, tedious because it is so exacting. But when the job is finally finished, the worker is happy with the pride that comes from a difficult job well done.

Among the articles the club members whittle during their club periods, wooden figures and puzzles are the most interesting. Because each detail must be perfect, the finished product is "something to see." These boys are fortunate to have the opportunity of learning this skill, and can be truly proud of their work.

SENIOR HIGH WOODWORKING CLUB

This club consisted of eleventh and twelfth grade boys who have already taken woodworking. The periods were just a continuation of regular shop courses, with the boys working on book cases, lawn figures, book ends, carved animal heads, miniature furniture, and whatever else they wanted to do just as long as they kept busy and were doing something constructive.

The lawn figures and book ends were all quite intriguing as well as useful. The miniature furniture was very small and dainty and consisted of everything from a tiny coffee table to a small telephone. Done in connection with the dramatics classes, where authentic stage settings of various well known and popular plays were made, the work had to be well done and though it may seem like babies' play, it called for a lot of patience and a steady hand.

The officers were: Shirley Woody, president; Rosie Sheppard, secretary-treasurer.

Y-TEENS

Both the junior and senior divisions of our school are well represented among the Y-Teen clubs of the city, there being four groups of the younger girls and two of the older. All Y-Teens subscribe to the Y-Teen purpose: "To grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all nationalities, races and religions, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God." They arrange their program activities and engage in service projects with the purpose in mind. All groups look forward eagerly to the spring conference which is held annually at Jackson's Mill and to which each club sends a number of delegates. This year approximately thirty girls from our school attended the conference.

Each club engages in a variety of money raising schemes to collect funds for the spring conference, but the one which the school enjoys most is the annual Variety Show, which is sponsored by the senior high Y-Teens.

Gridiron Shots

1949 Big Red Football

After recovering from the 1948 football campaign, which was considered the worst season in the last twenty years, and in which the Big Reds were able to win only two games on a 10-game schedule, Coach Jimmy Scott and his able assistants put the grid sport on a higher level in '49, as their constant tutoring paved the way for a record of five wins, four losses, and one tie. Facing the toughest schedule in the Mountain State, the Big Reds' speedy backfield and bulldozing forward wall started their climb back to the top ranks where they had stood for so long.

With the season three-fourths gone, the Rambling Red and White machine succeeded in pulling the biggest upset in the state when they eked out a 7-6 victory over the Charleston Mountain Lions before 12,000 football hungry enthusiasts at Stadium Field.

Veterans Paul "Offie" Miller, Jack Phillips, Paul "Hossey" Starr, and Captain Leon Wilson formed a nucleus for the high school football aggregation. Jim "Crazy Legs" Earley was a constant shining star in the backfield, as his stirring broken field maneuvers brought the Reds out of trouble and into scoring position more than once. "Offie" Miller, established himself as one of the hardest driving fullbacks in the business before he received a damaging knee injury late in the season. On the line Captain Leon Wilson and teammates, John Allman, Jim Lockhart, Hoppy Hopkins, Bowman Watson, Jerry Montgomery, and Dale Eaton, developed a decisive, hard blocking, and vicious tackling outfit under the careful guidance of newly appointed Coach "Pop" Lanning.

SEPTEMBER 9—BIG REDS 20, BUCKHANNON 12—Opening the '49 football season the Big Red gridmen defeated the Buckhannon-Upshur eleven 20-12 in the inaugural classic at Stadium Field. The three-some of Phillips, Doonan, and Starr combined efforts to score the locals' three touchdowns.

The Big Reds wasted little time in their down-field march when piston-legged Jack Phillips powered through his own left tackle for 39 yards and pay dirt. "Hossey" Starr converted the extra point, and the locals nourished a 7-0 margin.

After a steady running attack in the second stanza Mike Doonan carried the pigskin into the end zone from the 4-yard line for the second Big Red six-pointer. At the halfway mark the spirited Reds lead 14-6.

The final tallies for the Big Reds came early in the fourth quarter when Starr bulldozed his way over the goal on a quarterback sneak. Jim Earley, Jack Yankiss, and Paul Miller were also outstanding for the Reds. The strong Big Red forward wall opened hole after hole in the opposition's line and was found hard to move on the defense.

SEPTEMBER 16—BIG REDS 13, MARIETTA 0—Stadium Field was the site where 13,000 gridiron fans assembled to see the Big Reds score two touchdowns in the first half to upset the highly rated Marietta Tigers, 13-0, in an age-long rivalry. Both tallies came as the result of long runs. Offie Miller cracked through the Tiger forward wall and streaked on through the secondary to pay dirt for the Big Red TD. Paul Starr's try for extra point was low and the Reds were out in front 6-0, with only a minute of playing elapsed.

Marietta took Starr's kickoff deep in their own territory and by virtue of decisive blocking and bullet running, they returned the leather the entire distance of the field to score, but the play was nullified owing to a Tiger off-side penalty. Halfback Mike Doonan breezed off his own left tackle and skirted 61 yards to give the Big Reds their final touchdown of the evening. Starr split the uprights and the score read, 13-0 in favor of the Scottmen.

Jim Earley displayed some outstanding broken field running a few minutes later when he intercepted a Tiger pass at mid-field and evaded would-be tacklers to return the pigskin to the Marietta 7 yard line. A rugged Tiger line combined efforts in a dazzling goal line stance to halt the Reds' drive. Jim Sadie, John Allman, Leon Wilson, Jerry Montgomery, Hoppy Hopkins, Jim Lockhart, and Bill Crouser played a bang-up ball game on the line for the Big Red Warriors.

SEPTEMBER 24—BIG REDS 7, HUNTINGTON EAST 33—The Big Red pigskin eleven was completely outclassed as the Huntington East Highlanders scored a rousing 33-7 victory, stopping the locals' winning streak at two games. A long aerial from Jim Earley to Bill Crouser, right end, accounted for the lone Big Red touchdown in the second quarter. Paul Starr added the extra point to end the Parkersburg scoring.

Ronald and Don Richards, twin brothers, were stalwart ball carriers, and through their efforts the Huntington team was able to cross the Big Red goal in every quarter. Mike Doonan hauled in a long pass in the third quarter on a sleeper play and galloped to East's eleven yard line before he was pulled out of bounds. After four plays the Highlanders took possession on their own three yard line and the Reds never again threatened to score.

SEPTEMBER 30—BIG REDS 0; TRIADELPHIA 20—After the Scottmen had held the second-rated Triadelphia team to but six points in a hard-fought, well-played first half, they fell under the Triads' roaring attack in the final quarters and were trounced 20-0, for their second straight set back. Triadelphia's first six-pointer came with less than a minute to go in the first half when Behrens grooved an aerial to Bob Korn in the end zone.

The Big Red forward wall was in top shape for the tilt, and the going was plenty tough for the winners. Hoss Starr was a standout on defense as he shared in three fourths of the spills. Crazy Legs Earley and Offie Miller were the spark plugs in the Big Red backfield as they drove for several sizable gains. Although in scoring position on several occasions, the Big Reds lacked the necessary punch to reach pay dirt.

The Redmen had plenty of fighting spirit throughout the entire game and kept the Northerners on guard at all times, but lacked the offensive power to break into the scoring column.

OCTOBER 7—BIG REDS 33, WASHINGTON IRVING 19—Big Reds were having a tough time of it throughout the early stages of the game but managed to overpower the Washington Irving Hilltoppers in the final ten minutes to score three touchdowns and win 33-19. Eleven fighting players were in the struggle at all times, and through deceptive ball handling and decisive blocking accounted for their third and much deserved victory against two defeats.

W. I. received the opening kickoff and after three first downs marched to a quick touchdown. The Big Reds then took possession of the ball, and their up field march began. Shortly after the Reds had passed the midfield stripe, Jack Phillips took a hand-off and skirted around the end to score from 31 yards out and tie the count at 6-6.

Early in the second quarter the Reds procured the pigskin and generated a touchdown drive which put them in the lead momentarily. At the end of a knock-down, drag-out first half battle, Clarksburg held a slim 13-12 lead.

Midway in the third quarter the Reds found themselves on their own seven yard line. Bill Crouser's punt was short and went out of bounds on his 28 yard line. Clarksburg went on the offense and a short time later scored on an aerial. Dave Corsini converted to make the score 19-12, WI leading. From this point on it was the Big Reds all the way as they bounced back to tie the score on the famous Statue of Liberty play and Paul Starr's conversion. Wally Taylor recovered the kickoff and set the stage for another TD, which Offie Miller accounted for on a line plunge from the two yard line.

Joltin' Jim Lockhart intercepted a WI forward pass midway in the final quarter, and the Big Red eleven had little difficulty breaking through Clarksburg's shattered defense six plays later to score the final touchdown of the game.

1949 BIG RED FOOTBALL

OCTOBER 15—BIG REDS 25, HUNTINGTON CENTRAL 0—The Rapid Big Red gridiron stalwarts were back in old form once more when they accounted for a touchdown in every quarter to outclass completely and outplay the Pony Express and nourish a 25-0 triumph. From the opening kickoff at Fairfield Stadium until the whistle ending the game was sounded there were no signs of the Reds' letting up as their lightning fast offense and Stonewall defense were under fire.

Parkersburg's first TD came late in the first quarter when the Reds gained possession of the pigskin in Express territory. After advancing the ball to the Huntington 21 yard line, Citation Jim Earley hauled in a pitchout and scampered around right end and battled his way to pay dirt. Starr's extra point attempt was no good, and the Big Reds led 6-0.

After a dazzling 70 yard run involving three ball carriers was nullified at the beginning of the second quarter, the Reds began an upfield drive which ended in a touchdown heave from Jim Earley to Bill Crouser, who took the aerial on the 5-yard stripe and scored standing up.

Although no star could be named, Offie Miller was a standout, running from the fullback position. Maintaining a more than 6-yard average per try during the game, he played a big part in the Reds' offensive drives. Miller powered through center for the third six-pointer of the tilt in the third period.

Jim Lockhart intercepted an Express pass on his own 29 yard line in the final quarter, and six plays later Offie Miller crashed through right guard for the necessary yardage and the final TD. Double-duty Miller edged through a hole in the center of the line for the extra point and the game ended 25-0.

OCTOBER 21—BIG REDS 7, CHARLESTON MOUNTAIN LIONS 6—Eleven thousand football fans jammed Stadium Field and saw Jim Scott's Big Reds turn in the most thrilling exhibition of the season as they marched to a 7-6 triumph over the second-rated Charleston Mountain Lions in a knock-down-drag-out turf battle. A 43-yard aerial from Jim Earley found its way into the waiting arms of Jim Sadie, who evaded a host of would-be Charleston tacklers and scampered the remaining 35 yards across the goal line. Jack Yankiss split the uprights to complete the local scoring.

The first half saw both teams playing good, hard football, but neither side was able to score. It was the Big Reds who primarily held the upper hand throughout the first two stanzas as they threatened to cross the Mountain Lion goal three times. Jim Earley put the Reds deep in Charleston territory early in the first quarter when he broke through left tackle and zigzagged his way to the 8 yard line, a play which covered 35 yards. A hard fighting Charleston forward wall tightened and held the Big Reds for four consecutive plays. A few minutes later the locals found themselves to have another golden scoring opportunity. With the ball resting on the Charleston 3 yard line, Paul Starr carried the pigskin on two consecutive quarterback sneaks, which gave them another TD, but an offensive penalty spoiled their hopes.

The longer the tilt proceeded, the rougher and tougher it turned out to be. It was early in the final period when Jim Sadie took a pass from the air and marched to paydirt. Jack Yankiss converted to put the Big Reds in the lead, 7-0.

The classy Capital City eleven were not content to go scoreless, and as the game was nearing a close, Ed Knowles pitched a long forward pass into the waiting arms of Collias, who outdistanced the Big Red defensive secondary to tally the TD standing up. Collias's kick from placement was blocked, and the Big Reds held a 7-6 victory when the game ended less than a minute later.

OCTOBER 29—BIG REDS 0, STONEWALL JACKSON 12—Playing on a rain-soaked gridiron in Charleston, the Stonewall Jackson Generals put an end to the Big Red three-game winning streak as Jim Miller and Hoppy Shores crossed the goal line in the second and fourth periods respectively to win 12-0. The Red and White clad Indians staged a terrific fight as the underdogs and failed to have the needed punch when threatening.

Jim Miller turned in a splendid performance for the Generals and after S-J had moved deep into Big Red territory, Miller barreled off guard and scored. Shores's running attempt for the extra point was no good and the Generals went ahead 6-0.

Ross Ardman, Jim Earley, and Jack Phillips were the mainstays in the Big Red backfield, while Jim Sadie and Bill Crouser halted several S-J end sweeps. Hossey Starr played an important defensive role in that on two occasions he stopped Shores, who was in the secondary and on his way to the races.

With less than two minutes left to play in the game, Hopalong Shores, on a reverse, skirted his own left end and scored, a play which covered 21 yards. The extra point attempt failed and the game closed 12-0 in favor of Stonewall Jackson.

NOVEMBER 5—BIG REDS 0, BECKLEY 0—Six thousand chilled fans saw Coach Jimmy Scott's Big Reds struggle to a 0-0 deadlock with the defending state champion, the Beckley Flying Eagles. Working under a great handicap, without the service of Jim Earley, Paul Miller, and Ross Ardman, all of whom were injured in the Stonewall Jackson game, the Reds managed to hold the Southerners to a tie.

The only brilliant feature of the afternoon was the fine kicking of End Bill Crouser. His brilliant punts caught Beckley off guard on several occasions and set them far down field. An average of 41 yards per try was turned in by Crouser.

Reserves Jack Yankiss, Carl Balderson, and Mike Doonan saw action in the backfield for the locals but were held down to small gains by the Flying Eagle defense.

After 48 minutes of "cold" football, played on a hard, wind-swept turf, the battle closed with neither team having scored a single point.

NOVEMBER 12—BIG REDS 7, WEIRTON 27—A strong all-around Weirton Red Rider ball club, which scored a touchdown the first time they got their hands on the ball, had a comparatively easy time rolling to a 25-7 victory over the Big Reds to end the local's season. It marked the ninth win for the Northerners.

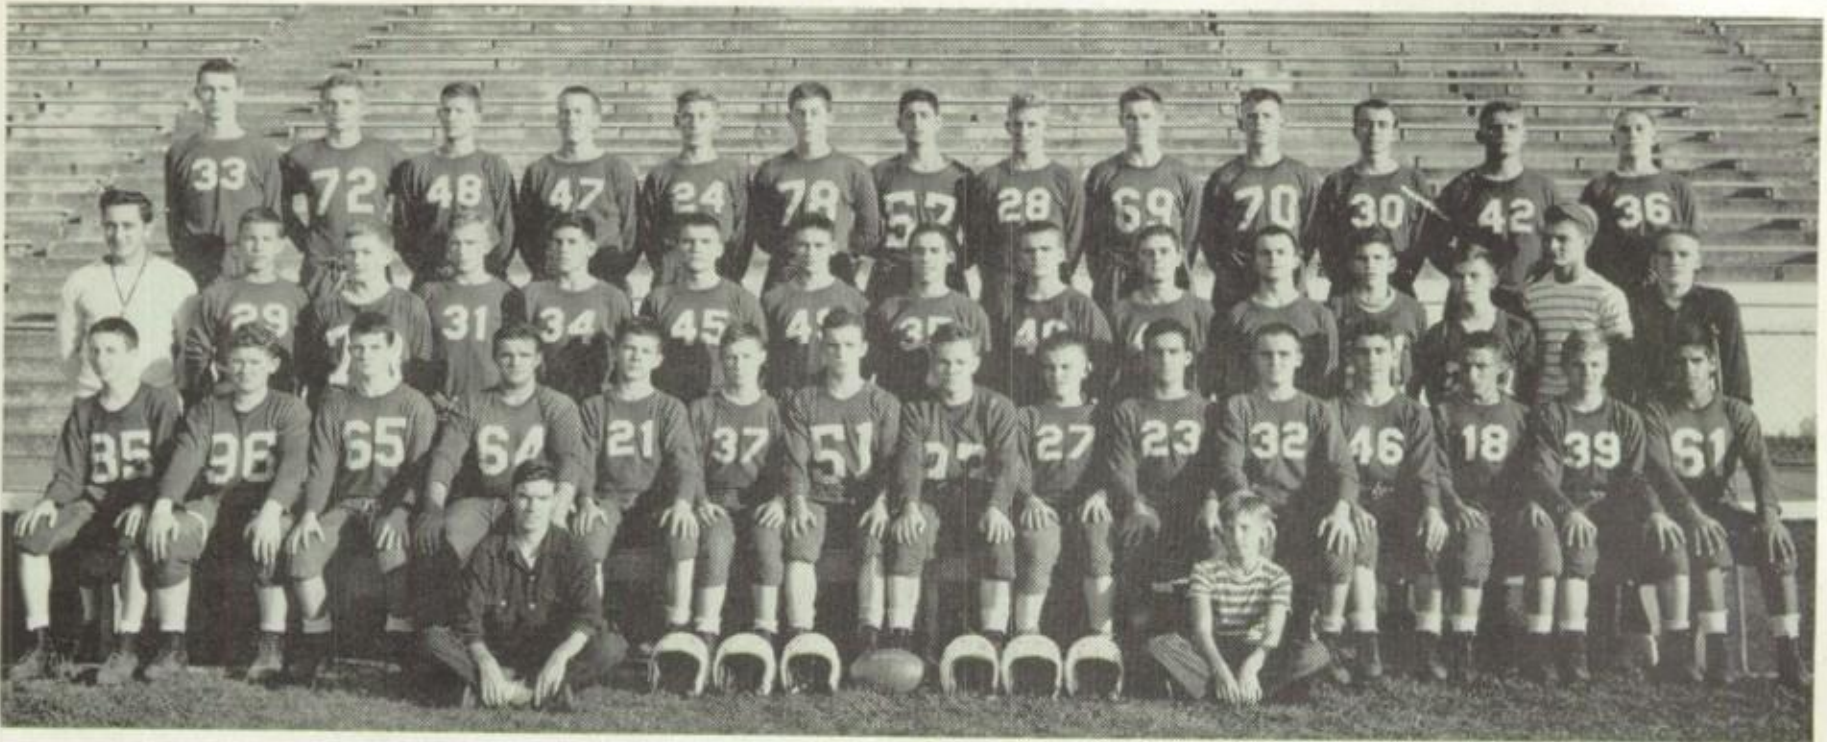

A desperate running and passing attack portrayed by the Steel City eleven could not be mastered by the Reds during the first and second quarters, and at halftime Weirton held a wide 19-0 margin. Jim Hanna tallied the first TD on a pass from quarterback Rick and then split the uprights to give Weir a 7-0 advantage. The next time the Hamilmen gained possession of the pigskin they were on their own six yard line. From this point a steady downfield march began and ended with Pulice smashing through left guard to score. Late in the second period Pulice again, after another splendid offensive drive, plowed over right guard to make the score 19-0, and the half ended.

Ailing fullback Paul Miller brought the crowd to its feet in the third quarter when he galloped through the center of the line on a fake pitch-out and racked up the longest running play of the afternoon for the Big Reds. The lone and much deserved Big Red touchdown came in the final period on a pass play which caught Weirton completely off guard. Mike Doonan faked an end run and stopped midway to toss an aerial into the waiting arms of Bill Crouser. Paul Starr, playing one of the finest games of his entire high school career, converted, to put his team in the scoring column.

SEPTEMBER 16—LITTLE REDS 14, McCONNELLSVILLE 0—On September 16, the Little Reds embarked on what was to be one of their most successful seasons in the last five years. Bob Morris' plunging over from the eight yard line in the first quarter and a touchdown pass from Jack Rake to Mike Starkey in the second frame rounded out the scoring of the Little Reds in their 14-0 triumph over McConnellsville, Ohio.

SEPTEMBER 21—LITTLE REDS 47, NEW MARTINSVILLE RESERVES 0—A scrappy Little Red eleven under the ardent eye of Coach Sam Gwosden notched their second victory of the season with a 47-0 triumph over the New Martinsville Reserves. Fullbacks Ed Rayburn and Bob Morris along with Jack Rake, halfback, scored two touchdowns each. One of Rake's TD's came on a 55-yard skirt around his own left end. Jim Hughes galloped to pay-dirt and three extra points and a safety were recorded to complete the sophomores' scoring.

OCTOBER 6—LITTLE REDS 15, STONEWALL JACKSON 0—A classy and all-powerful Stonewall Jackson Reserve team fell 15-0 under the strong offensive attack of the Little Reds as they established their third win of the season against no defeats.

The first touchdown came early in the first quarter when a Jack Rake to Bill Adams pass clicked for a Little Red score. Ed Rayburn, running from the fullback position succeeded in crashing through the invaders' defense from the 8 yard line in the second period to lengthen their lead. A blocked punt by lineman Tom Montoya set the Generals back deep in their own territory, and a 15 yard penalty put the ball on the Reserve 2 yard line. On the next play Bill McClain broke up a desperation running play by downing the ballcarrier behind his own goal for a safety.

OCTOBER 13—LITTLE REDS 29, MARIETTA RESERVES 0—Saw Gwosden's Little Reds completely outclassed the Marietta Tiger Reserves and had little trouble rolling to a 29-0 win. From the opening kickoff until the closing whistle the Reds held the upper hand. A total of 15 points established Jack Rake as top scorer of the evening. His scoring came on two touchdowns and three successful extra point attempts. Robert Morris and Eddy Rayburn, alternating at the fullback slot, each scored a six pointer. A battling forward wall opened gaping holes in the up-river defense and on various occasions spilled the Tigers for long losses. Midway in the final quarter a Marietta back was pulled down behind his own goal line, and two more points were added to the local scoring column.

OCTOBER 26—CALDWELL, OHIO, 26, LITTLE REDS 6—The Little Reds' perfect record of four victories was halted by a powerful Caldwell, Ohio, varsity club who steam rolled to a 26-6 win over the Gwosdenmen on the latter's home field. Early in the second period the Ohioians crossed the goal line to establish their first TD of the game. At the end of a hard fought first half the Little Reds trailed by a 6-0 tally.

Scatback Riski accounted for Caldwell's next two touchdowns when he raced sixteen yards down the middle to pay dirt and a few minutes later on a broken field made a sixty yard scamper. After another down field march, Christopher plowed through his left guard to score. Parkersburg's lone touchdown came in the final quarter when Quarterback Mike Starkey tossed an aerial to Bob Morris in the end zone.

NOVEMBER 3—LITTLE REDS 34, MARIETTA RESERVES 0—For the second time of the season the Little Reds proved their superiority over the Tiger Reserves as they scored in every stanza and won going away, 34-0. Midway in the first quarter Jack Rake slipped through a hole in the middle of the line and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. Rake converted to make the score 7-0. From this point on the sophomores maneuvered up and down the gridiron to score almost every time they got possession of the ball.

JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL

Coaches Clarence Gustke and Timothy Cross play an important part in molding junior high football hopefuls and preparing them for Little Red and Varsity action. Gustke tutors the Junior High Reds while Cross handles the Blues. During the '49 grid season the Blues rated higher in actual competition over the Reds with a record of three wins, one loss, and two ties. The Reds held a less impressive record of one victory against five defeats. Neale school annexed the county championship.

Big Red Basketball

Playing perhaps for the last season in the high school "match box" gymnasium Coach Forrest Clark's classy Big Red titans broke even in their hardwood encounter and established an average of .500 with 10 wins and the same number of defeats. During the course of the season the Rambling Redmen locked horns with the best quintets in the state.

Midway in their campaign the mighty undefeated Stonewall Jackson Generals rolled into Parkersburg with the sure hope of lengthening their perfect season. When the dust had cleared after a rugged, knock-down drag-out battle the Clarkmen were on the long end of a 62-49 score. Ousting the Generals from the undefeated realm was the highlight game of the year. The locals came within three points of downing the Kanawha Valley Champion Clendenin Cardinals.

Joe Goebel, Jack Yankiss, and Jack Mehl, three returning veterans from the '48 warriors were constant performers when the chips were down.

In the midst of hot pre-season skirmish for starting positions, Jim Lockhart, center and Sonny Langfitt, guard, came up from Little Reds to clinch a berth on the starting team along with the returning lettermen. Sophomore Ross Ardman, substitute forward, saw his share of action along with Jim Sadie, guard replacement.

Although advancing no further than the first game in tournament elimination play, Joe Goebel and Sonny Langfitt, two Red and White hardwood artists, were named to the Section 7-A all-tournament cage squad.

DECEMBER 16—RAVENSWOOD 56, BIG REDS 46—The Ravenswood Red Devils succeeded in racking up a stunning 56-46 victory over the Big Reds in their first game of the season on the local hardwood. The winners held the upper hand throughout the entire game as the Clarkmen could never generate the defense to stop the Jonesmen or split the silks for successive scores.

Soon after the opening tip-off, Ravenswood went into the lead and maintained a margin until the close.

Joe Goebel was the mainstay for the Big Reds as he hit the bucket twice in every quarter and sank two fouls to carry off high scoring honors of the evening with eighteen points. Center Jack Mehl sank four field goals and six fouls for a total of fourteen markers. Both boys fouled out in the final period.

DECEMBER 29—BIG REDS 50, ALUMNI 43—After trailing a strong and fast moving Alumni five at the close of the second and third quarters, the improving Big Reds netted 22 points in the final period to defeat the old grads 50-43 in a hard fought victory. Tricky Joe Goebel, working in the forward position, set the winning pace for the high school quintet as he looped 20 points in the form of eight field goals and four fouls.

Jack Mehl took the tip-off, and a quick pass to Goebel under the basket put the Big Reds out in front where they stayed throughout the first eight minutes of play. Hampered by not having practiced together, the Alumni were able to score only seven points in the first quarter, while the Clarkmen sank eleven markers. Ezbai Wells accounted for 20 points for the Alumni and Bill Bowry 11, as the graduates caught fire midway in the game and set up an air-tight defense. Jim Lockhart and Mehl were top performers under the basket, controlling a large percentage of the rebounds. With but six minutes remaining in the game, Yankiss, Goebel, and Lockhart split the silks for tallies which gave them a win over the Alumni, the first in several years.

Those boys composing the Alumni squad were Gene Turner, Jack Radcliffe, Ezbai Wells, Joe Swartz, Jerry Nohe, Dave Rake, Bill Bowry, and Charles West.

JANUARY 3.—BIG REDS 54, NEW MARTINSVILLE 49—Displaying the best brand of basketball of the season the New Martinsville cagers' perfect record of four wins and no losses was ruined by the Big Reds in their 54-49 triumph over the northern high school. This was the second straight victory for the Reds after dropping the opener to Ravenswood.

High scoring Joe Goebel looped ten of his nineteen points during the first quarter as the Clark-coached boys opened with a burst of speed and guarded an 18-9 lead at the end of the opening stanza. Jack Mehl switched to guard and Jim Lockhart worked in the pivot position. Both boys left the game by way of the foul route in the last half.

Throughout the remainder of the game Magnolia battled the locals on even terms, and had it not been for the early lead secured by the Big Reds, the final score could have ended differently. The invading foe tallied eleven points to the Reds' seven in the final period. Jack Yankiss found the range and netted successive goals in the closing minutes to keep the Big Reds out in front. Dick Gilbert performed as a veteran center in the last half.

JANUARY 6—BIG REDS 49, ST. MARYS 48—With but one minute remaining in the ball game, and behind five points, the Big Reds roared back as Jack Yankiss sank the winning field goal to give them a 49-48 decision over the St. Marys Blue Devils in a hilarious, nip and tuck contest. Joe Goebel, high scoring forward, split the silks in the final 60 seconds to make the score 45-48, St. Marys leading. Yankiss, who had been held scoreless throughout the game netted two fouls, and after the ball was taken out, looped the game winning goal.

The lead changed hands frequently as both teams were scoring from all positions and consecutively. Jack Mehl turned in a bang up game at guard and hit the bucket from the outer court for a total of 16 points.

JANUARY 10—BIG REDS 50, UNIVERSITY HIGH, MORGANTOWN 46—After a see-saw battle on the high school hardwood, the Big Reds emerged victorious over the Hilltoppers of Morgantown University High by the slim margin of four points. It was another of those exciting and hair raising 32-minute exhibitions which keeps everyone scared.

Although holding a narrow lead at the end of the first three periods, the Redmen had to really battle to prove their superiority over the invaders. Joe Goebel and Jim Lockhart accounted for 17 and 15 points respectively for a grand total of 32 markers. Vic Aglinsky, guard, was the highlight attraction for the Morgantown lads, looping eight field goals and five fouls for 21 points.

JANUARY 13—BIG REDS 40, HUNTINGTON CENTRAL 39—A one-handed push shot near the foul line by Jack Mehl in an action packed overtime period cinched a thrilling 40-39 Big Red victory over the Pony Express from Huntington. At the end of the regular tussle the score was netted at 37-all.

During the first half comparatively little scoring took place as both teams portrayed the needed defensive power and the Express held a 16-15 advantage at halftime. It was in the third canto that the Huntington lads displayed their wares and outscored the Clarkmen in what looked to be their game. With but one quarter remaining, the invaders enjoyed a 7 point lead. In the last eight minutes of action the tide changed and the fighting Big Red cagers paced by Joe Goebel fought back from the brink of defeat to tally 12 points to Huntington's five, and then garner a win in the overtime period. Goebel ranked first in Big Red scoring with 14 points, followed by Ross Ardman and Jim Lockhart with nine each.

JANUARY 17—MARIETTA TIGERS 49, BIG REDS 35—After entertaining a 9-8 lead at the end of the first quarter the Big Reds fell completely apart and were harmless as house kittens at the hands of the Marietta Tigers, who notched a 49-35 triumph. It was a case that the up-river dribblers were primed to perfection and the Clarkmen were off in all departments.

High scoring ace, Joe Goebel, was limited to 3 points by the Tiger defense, while lanky Jack Mehl, smooth working guard, registered 15. Ross ardmán split the silks for three field goals and six points to rank second in the Big Red offense drive. Their record stands at four wins against two losses.

JANUARY 20—BIG REDS 62, STONEWALL JACKSON 49—The unpredictable and ever-fighting Big Red five teamed efforts in their best cage game of the season to bounce the mighty Stonewall Jackson Generals from the ranks of the undefeated, by the lop-sided score of 62-49. The win can be determined as an upset as the S-J hoopsters were rated as tops in the state, winning all games by a wide margin. It was sweet revenge for the 69-40 loss handed the Big Reds in 1949.

It was the Reds' evening all the way around as they jumped into the lead a few minutes after the tilt got underway and held a 16-6 margin at the close of the first period. The Generals' famous fast break was more effective in the second quarter as they sliced the lead to 29-24 at halftime. Again in the third frame S-J outscored the Clarkmen 13-9, and the score was netted 41-all at the end of the third, eight minutes of play. Joe Goebel, Jim Lockhart, Jack Mehl, and Jack Yankiss all found the shooting range and were unstoppable in the final minutes, swishing bucket after bucket to spoil the perfect record of the Capitol City lads. Goebel, Lockhart, Yankiss, and Mehl each garnered 12 or more points in the thriller, diller contest.

JANUARY 27—WEST FAIRMONT 39, BIG REDS 29—A last quarter rally and only bright spot of the game came too late to save the Big Reds from taking a 39-29 defeat by Paul "Biz" Dawson's Polar Bears from West Fairmont. The defending state champions established a sufficient margin in the first half to stave off a last period scoring spree by the Reds and come out on the long end of the count.

Playing on a strange hardwood, Forrest Clark's "Thrill Kids" went completely haywire and were outscored 17-4 by the Polar Bears in the first stanza. Some ground was regained in the low scoring second quarter as the Reds accounted for nine points and Fairmont only five to establish a halftime tally of 22-13, Bears leading.

Joe Papetti and Don Shotts were high scorers for the Dawsonmen with nine points each. Smooth ball handling, sparkling offense, and teamwork spelled doom in the first degree for the Big Reds as the Westsiders' brilliant performance after intermission overshadowed the locals' come-back in the last canto to mark up another victory in the record book.

JANUARY 28—GRAFTON 49, BIG REDS 44—Rand McKinney's Grafton Bearcats skirted into an early lead, which they held throughout 32 minutes of play to nip the Big Reds, 49-44. This marked the second straight setback as the locals were twice defeated on their first 2-day road trip in the East.

Playing an improved brand of basketball over the pervious evening, the Reds still couldn't muster the needed drive to emerge winners. At halftime the Bearcats held a 25-19 edge. During the third quarter Grafton gave a replica of the initial stanza in which they outscored Parkersburg six points. The Reds' chances were less hopeful as Jack Mehl and Jim Lockhart excused themselves from the game in the last frame by way of the foul route. They were the chief scorers with 10 and eight points respectively. Again it was a matter of saving the scoring spree until too late in the tilt. The Big Reds racked up 16 points to only nine for Grafton in the closing quarter.

JANUARY 31—BIG REDS 56, SISTERSVILLE 42—The off again on again Big Red ramblers were hitting again on all five cylinders as they got back on the winning road once more by crushing the classy Sistersville Tigers 56-42. Ailing Joe Goebel was the sparkplug in the motor-like offense as he connected for nine 2-pointers and 5 charity tosses for a grand high total of 23 points. Sharpshooting Jim Lockhart ranked second with sixteen markers.

From the opening tip-off and during the first quarter the teams played on even terms with the Clarkmen maintaining a 13-11 margin at the end of the first quarter. Jack Yankiss tallied six of his seven points during the first stanza on three field goals.

It was in the second quarter that the Big Red speedsters turned on the heat, which melted the Tigers and outscored the up-river lads 13-7. Halftime score favored the Reds 26-18. It was comparatively slow going after intermission time as the steady plugging and superiority of the locals proved to be the deciding factor in their 56-42 win.

FEBRUARY 7—BIG REDS 49, SPENCER 46—Playing on an almost glaze of ice in the newly constructed gymnasium at Spencer, the Big Reds picked up an early lead which staved off a last half rally by the Yellow Jackets to cherish a 49-46 triumph. The game was played on an asphalt court; this made it almost impossible for the locals to keep their feet.

Once again it was Joe Goebel, Jim Lockhart, and Jack Mehl who furnished the main scoring punch for the Clarkmen. The score was netted at 9-all after the first eight minutes of play, but their silk splitting during the second canto established a wide nine point lead at halftime.

Regaining their poise in the second half the Spencerites began to roll and collected the majority of points in both the third and fourth quarters. In the closing moments the Reds' problem was strictly one of hanging on. The sounding bell, ending the cage tussle, came in time and the score read 49-46, in Big Reds favor.

FEBRUARY 10—FAIRMONT 49, BIG REDS 43—With the score tied at 43-43 and only one minute remaining in the contest, the invading West Fairmont Polar Bears split the silks for three quick buckets to turn in their second victory over the Big Reds this year by a 49-43 score. It was a nip and tuck, hard fought tilt all the way, with both teams displaying plenty of skill.

In the early stages of the game it was a case of "turn about is fair play" as the combines traded goals and at the end of the first quarter neither side held an advantage. The score was tied at 13-all. At halftime the Dawsonmen went into the lead with a 22-20 margin.

Joe Goebel, high scorer of the evening with six goals and eight fouls for a total of 20 points, was fouled just after the second half had begun and tied the score with two perfect charity throws. Donn Shoots, cool headed guard, and George Calich, returning star from last year's state championship squad paced the Blue and White Bears with 15 and 14 points respectively as the Big Reds were outscored 15-11 in the third canto.

The crowd was kept on the edge of their seats throughout the last period with 12 points being accounted for by the Clarkmen and Fairmontites. The Bears' scoring punch in the second and third quarter spelled defeat for the Clarkmen.

FEBRUARY 14—MARIETTA 35, BIG REDS 34—For the second time this year the Marietta Tigers proved too much for the Big Reds to handle, and, amidst a whirlwind finish, copped a narrow 35-34 decision. The game got off to a slow start and continued to be such for the first three quarters. At intermission the up-river Tigers were on the long end of a 19-15 tally. During the third period little ground was gained by the Clarkmen, who were trailing 28-20 at the three-quarters pole.

Midway in the final quarter the players gained momentum and for four minutes the going was rough and tumble. The rambling "Thrill Kids" showed their first signs of mastery as veteran guard Jack Mehl lead the scoring race, garnering six goals and one foul for a total of 13 markers.

With two minutes left in the game Lockhart stepped to the foul line and looped a charity toss to net the score at 32-32. Center Bob Davis of Marietta was in turn roughed under the bucket on the next play and made both shots. Wilson added a foul throw, making the score 35-32 in favor of Marietta. Mehl, knowing time was running out, took quick aim and looped a two-hander from the outer court to account for the last two points of the game.

FEBRUARY 17—CLEDENIN 49, BIG REDS 47—The Big Reds staged one of the greatest comebacks of the season but failed by three points to upset the 10-game winning streak of the Clendenin Cardinals. After trailing the invaders by 20 points, the Reds' attack began to take form, spearheaded by reserve player Jim Sadie.

At the close of the opening stanza a 12-11 lead was held by the Clarkmen, but during the following quarter Paul Workman's Cardinals recaptured their highly publicized shooting fame and looped 21 points to only five for the locals. Clendenin held a 32-17 lead at half-time.

The Reds' famous last half rallies held true again as they controlled the third and fourth quarter scoring by 14-8, and 16-9 readings. It was a matter of time running out which kept the Reds from pulling their second great upset of the year. Constant performer Jim Lockhart was high point man with 14. Following next in line were Joe Goebel and Jim Sadie with 12, 10 respectively.

FEBRUARY 24—BECKLEY 53, BIG REDS 50—Coach Forrest Clark's Big Red dribblers fell below the .500 point average, when their famous last quarter rally again fell short, and lost a close 53-50 decision to Beckley. The locals' record now stands at seven wins and eight defeats.

Guard Jack Mehl kept the Reds in the game with his uncanny shooting form which netted nine field goals and three fouls for a total of 21 points. Sadie and Lockhart were next in line and not far behind with 8 points each.

After holding a two point lead at the end of the first quarter the Reds left the court at halftime trailing 29-26. The Flying Eagles outscored the Clarkmen 22-17 in the second canto. During the third quarter the Eagles again dominated the scoring and collected 13 points, to only 8 for the locals. It was at this time that Beckley sewed up the game. Even though the invading Big Reds turned on the steam in the final stretch and looped 16 points and limited Beckley to 11, their rally fell short and ended in defeat.

FEBRUARY 25—CHARLESTON 81, BIG REDS 65—Returning by way of the Capital City on their last two-day road trip of the season the Big Reds were handed an 81-65 thrashing by the Charleston Mountain Lions. The game ended an uneventful trip which had seen the Reds lose a close game to Beckley the night before.

LITTLE RED BASKETBALL

Coach Sam Gwosden's Little Red basketballers closed their campaign with a splendid record of twelve wins and four defeats for one of the most successful seasons for several years. The sophomores' setbacks came at the hands of the Big Red Reserves, St. Marys Reserves, and twice by the New Matamoras varsity.

In a three game series with the Big Red Reserves the Gwosdenmen were victorious in two of the encounters. After absorbing a 46-42 defeat by the varsity reserves early in the season they regained their poise to roar back and revenge themselves with 41-40 and 54-51 triumphs. Jack Rake, John Ball, Bill McClain, Paul Booth, Mike Starkey, Bill Adams, Dale Cottrill, and Bob Summers were the standout hoopsters of the squad.

The Mountain Lions were just too much for the Clarkmen to cope with as the winners looped buckets from all positions on the court to take their fifth straight win over Parkersburg. All five players on the starting lineup accounted for 10 or more points. Ernest and Crutchfield were the top scorers with 20, 19 points respectively.

After holding a three point lead at the end of the first eight minutes of play the Lions scampered still further away in the second quarter, collecting 28 points to Parkersburg's 13. The Big Reds played their best brand of ball in the third period when they outscored their opponents 14-11. The remainder of the game was played on comparatively even terms but the locals were too far behind to catch up.

Individual scoring honors of the fray went to Jim Lockhart, who poured in eight field goals and nine fouls for a grand total of 25. Jack Mehl ranked second with 17.

MARCH 1—BIG REDS 57, HUNTINGTON EAST 56—Parkersburg's Big Red "Thrill Kids" were at work once more when they tallied an avalanche of points in the final quarter to snatch a 57-56 victory from the Huntington East Highlanders. Forward Jack Yankiss had a field day around the hoop and paced the Clarkmen with 26 points. Joe Goebel regained his old form after a three game stalemate, and netted 23 points for second place honors.

From beginning to end the nip and tuck battle kept the fans in an hilarious uproar. After trailing the Highlanders by three buckets early in the first quarter. The Yankiss-Goebel sparked machine caught fire and held a 28-25 halftime advantage.

BIG RED WRESTLING—1950 STATE CHAMPIONS

It was in no uncertain terms that Coach Jimmy Scott's Big Red wrestling warriors brought home the bacon. There was pride in the wrestlers' actions and a smile on all their faces after terminating a successful season, which included but one defeat in eight starts. Winning seven of the twelve bouts in the state championship matches held at Morgantown on March 24 gave the Scottmen their second state title in three years. Much credit must be given the local grapplers who put Parkersburg back on the athletic map by virtue of many long strenuous hours of hard practice.

Heavyweight Champion Bob Barrows won the title in 1949 and went through the '50 mat spin without a single defeat, thus retaining his title. Barrows showed steady improvement throughout the season and was considered one of the outstanding Big Red bone twisters.

Paul "Hoss" Star was a sight to behold while on the squared canvas. His rough and tough tactics kept his opponents in constant fear and were a crowd pleaser. He defeated Redd of Weirton in the state match. Leon Wilson annexed a state championship in the 185 pound class along with 165 pound Buck Jones. Wilson saw little action in the regular season but came through with flying colors in the state tourney. Jones broke into the starting line-up midway in the season and could always be counted on for points.

Lanky Joe Kiser, 145 pounder, was among the undefeated Redmen, along with 112-pound-class candidate Carlin Jackson. In a match against Weston, Kiser lowered the boom on his antagonist for a pin in less than 30 seconds of the opening period. Jack Tippens and Jim Pringle, three year veterans, put their mat savy to good use and regularly added points to the score sheet in the school's high scoring season. Tippens successfully defended his title, but Pringle was defeated by a slim 4-3 count.

Carroll Baker enjoyed a good season but faltered in the state carnival and missed copping his third championship. Sophomore Hershal Hafley, a powerful matman done up in a small package, made the varsity squad in his first year on the team.

Elusive Dick Murphy came in contact with some of West Virginia's best mat merchants and holds a long string of victories. He was defeated in the final match at Morgantown.

Other wrestlers who saw action during the season were Jack Reed, Bob Lowers, and Jerry Montgomery. Montgomery, 154 pound class, was eliminated in the regional held in Weston by Techak of Beckley. The bout was considered one of the most evenly matched of the entire year, with Techak gaining a one point advantage.

1949 BIG RED BASEBALL ROUND-UP

Coach Edgar E. Rhodes, Big Red baseball mentor ended his scholastic coaching career after piloting the high school diamonders for thirteen consecutive seasons. Ill health proved to be the deciding factor in forcing him to resign his position. While serving in this capacity his teams established a record of 151 victories against a mere 34 defeats. For this fine record Mr. Rhodes was chosen as one of the charter members of the recently organized "Century Club." The club was begun by Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune and is open to high school and collegiate coaches who have won more than one hundred games.

An impressive record of 10 victories and 3 losses was chalked up by the 1949 Big Red team, but they were eliminated from the state playoffs in Charleston by a strong Pennsboro nine.

Lettermen for the '49 campaign were: Pete Gregg, catcher; Dean Lake, Bill Selkirk, and Jack Mehl, pitchers; Jim Lewis, first baseman; Eugene Smith, second baseman; Bill Bowry, short stop; Albert Smith, third baseman; and Charles McCrady, Bill Hall, Clyde Nelson, outfielders.

1950 BASEBALL OUTLOOK

At the time the Parhisan goes to press Tim Cross has assumed his new duties as head baseball coach and is in the process of molding a winning combine around his four returning lettermen from last year. A heavy load is resting on the shoulders of veterans Jack Mehl, Jim Lewis, Eugene Smith, and Charles McCrady. Other promising prospects include Ray Allen and Sonny Langfitt behind the plate. Ira Lincicome, Jack Rake, Mike Starkey, and Jim Wilkes will be available for mound duty behind fire-ball Mehl. Christy Kaltnecker will make a strong bid for the keystone position, while Ross Ardman and Eugene Smith are expected to see plenty of action at shortstop and the hot-corner respectively. Bill Harris, Jim Bush, Bob Bibbee, Jack Phillips, and Philip Hill have tossed their hats into the ring and are striving for a roving position in the outfield gardens. With plenty of speed and fair hitting power, another good season is in store for the Big Reds.

BIG RED TRACK WHIRL

APRIL 9—MARIETTA VS. BIG REDS—Well balanced Marietta Tigers served as the opposition for the Scottmen in their inaugural cinder meet of the 1949 season at Stadium Field. Although losing by a very decisive score, the Big Reds turned in several fine performances. Allen Barber came from behind in the last fifty yards to nose out Marietta's John Hastings in the quarter mile, and finished third in the 100 yard dash. Jack Yankiss also displayed plenty of speed against the up-river antagonists, running fourth in the 100 and 220 yard sprint events.

APRIL 23—HUNTINGTON RELAYS—The Marietta Yellow and Black Tigers smothered a total of fifteen teams from West Virginia and Kentucky to carry off the winning trophy and a multitude of individual awards in the annual Huntington Relays. Placing first in a slow heat, the Big Red medley relay team finished third against time in the event to account for their only six points of the meet.

APRIL 30—BIG FOUR MEET—Stonewall Jackson galloped into an early lead and had very little difficulty accounting for 102 points to annex a victory in the Big Four cinder meet at Stadium Field. The small Big Red squad, boasting the return of but one letterman, finished in last position behind the Charleston Generals, Charleston Mountain Lions and Huntington Central with a mere 29 points.

The Big Red medley relay quartet composed of Jack Yankiss, Mike Doonan, Tom Logston, and Allen Barber covered the oval in near record time to give the Reds their only first in the relay events. Barber outdistanced the quarter-milers to place first in the 440, in the good time of .52. Citation Yankiss crossed the finish line second and third in the 100 and 220 yard dashes respectively. Ted Rake placed second in the high jump, and Richard Keller ranked fourth in the discus to complete the Big Reds scoring in the field events.

MAY 3—BIG REDS VS. MARIETTA—In the second meeting of the two schools, the Marietta thinclads piled up a total of 137½ points and limited the Big Red speedsters to but 20½ points in a meet held under the lights in the former's stadium. Speedmerchant Jack Yankiss carried high scoring laurels for the Big Reds, accounting for seven points. After placing third in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, he ended his evening of activity with a fourth position in the broad jump.

Frank Settle sprinted through the hurdles in fine fashion to take second place in the 110 high hurdles and fourth in the 220 yard lows. To round out the local scoring column, Allen Barber finished second to Hastings, Marietta star, in the 440 yard attraction.

MAY 7—GAZETTE RELAYS—The Charleston Daily Gazette, sponsors of the Gazette Relays, played host to some twenty track squads in what is considered one of the most competitive cinder carnivals in the Mountain State. Parkersburg's thirteen points came by virtue of Allen Barber, Jack Yankiss, and Dick Keller, who established themselves on the scoring sheet. A well-deserved win in the 220 yard dash and a fourth in the 100 gave Yankiss a total of seven points. Allen

Barber and Dick Keller placed second in the 440 and fourth in the discus, respectively, to complete the Reds scoring for the afternoon.

MAY 14—SECTIONAL MEET—Parkersburg played host to the Sectional track and field meet held at Stadium field on Saturday, May 14. East Fairmont, Morgantown, Clarksburg, Elkins, and Grafton invaded the Big Red town for the afternoon-long event. The Fairmont thinclads coasted to an easy triumph on the rain-soaked oval, tallying $69\frac{1}{2}$ points, while the Big Reds ranked fifth with $34\frac{1}{4}$ points.

Jack Yankiss paced the Redmen placing second in the 100 yard dash and then outdistancing the entire field to cop first in the 220 yard dash later in the afternoon. Allen Barber sprinted to a 25-yard victory in the quarter mile and anchored the medley relay, which placed second. Other members of the relay included: Carl Patterson, Tom Logston, and Yankiss. Frank Settle topped the high timbers in fine style to place second in the 120 yard event. Barber, Yankiss, Patterson, Logston, and Settle qualified for the state track carnival.

MAY 21—STATE MEET—A five man track aggregation which represented the high school at the state track meet last year was able to account for but two points in the toughest cinder competition of the entire season. Stonewall Jackson's well balanced thinclad squad rolled to its second consecutive state track victory.

The two Big Red points came when swift-footed Jack Yankiss and Allen Barber placed fifth in the 220 yard dash and quarter-mile respectively. Owing to injuries, the Big Red medley relay, which had ousted the best in the state on previous occasions during the year, failed to place in the state carnival.

MAY 24—2ND CENTRAL OHIO VALLEY NIGHT RELAYS—For the second straight year Cliff Glaizer's classy Marietta Tigers annexed a close victory in the ACOVNR held in Marietta and sponsored by the Marietta Junior Chamber of Commerce. After trailing throughout the early stages of the meet, their fast mile relay quartet succeeded in putting them out in front for good. Parkersburg's best show came in the spring medley relay event when Jack Yankiss, Carl Patterson, Tom Logston, and anchorman Allen Barber combined efforts to finish second behind Huntington Central. The Big Red team garnered a fifth place in the 440, 880, and shuttle hurdle relay events. Jack Yankiss crossed the finish line first in the open 100 yard dash, but no score was tallied for the featured attraction.

Eight boys earned their letter during the 1949 track whirl. Allen Barber, Mike Doonan, Richard Keller, Tom Logston, Frank Settle, and Jack Yankiss were awarded a red letter "P." Senior service letters were awarded to Carl Patterson and Pearl Roberts.

BIG RED BASKETBALL

The Reds fell behind in the third quarter and scored only nine points to the 14 of their opponents. They made up the difference in the last eight minutes and emerged victorious.

MARCH 3—BIG REDS 54, SPENCER 44—Coming from behind in the last half the Big Reds rang down the curtain on the 1949-50 basketball spin with a 54-44 victory over the Spencer Yellow Jackets. The triumph gave the Clarkmen a .500 point average for the season, winning nine contests and losing the same number.

INTRAMURALS

Football, basketball, track, softball, tug of war, and bowling made a year of sportsmanship for home room teams and excitement for fun, for both those who watched and those who played. Activities for all seasons, channeled through an extensive intramural program, encouraged many to participate in sports, to build strong bodies and to partake of the spirit of fair play and good fellowship.

Owing to the lack of facilities, physical education periods could not be offered to boys in the senior high division of the school. For this reason the intramural program was originated and set up by the versatile Coach Edgar Rhodes in 1936. Through this program all senior high boys have an opportunity to participate in competitive sports and over the past fourteen years an increasing interest has been aroused until now, intramural sports are of major importance in each of the home rooms. A race is one from early in the fall until the close of school to gain, by way of the point system, the coveted Intramural Championship and prized oak bucket which accompanies the title.

Sports offered through the intramural system include football, basketball, volley ball, softball, horseshoes, ping pong, handball, shuffleboard, bowling, badminton, wrestling, track, foul shooting, tug of war, and box hockey.

The captain-manager of each home room comprise the Intramural Council which holds a meeting every Thursday during activity period. It is their duty to settle any disputes which may arise, schedule games, plan a better program for the coming year and legislate all rules pertaining to eligibility.

Last year, Junior home room 310, piled up the most points and was crowned "Champ." This year, as seniors, they look to be a sure bet in retaining the crown.

Success of the intramural program has been due largely to the capable direction of Edgar Rhodes. His genial personality and interest to obtain the objectives of the program have stimulated a far reaching and loyal interest.

BIG RED BASKETBALL

Spencer was in complete control during the first two cantos as guard Eugene Mace far over-shadowed any player on the court, to net 26 points. The Jackets led 17-12 after the first quarter and 27-25 at halftime.

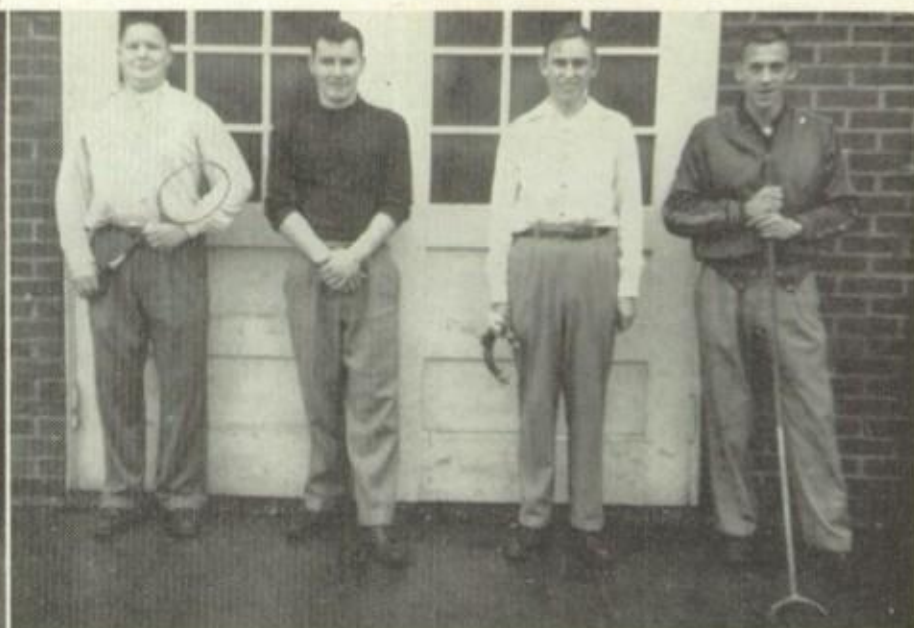

Nervous Joe Goebel and Jack Mehl paced the Reds with 14, 13 points respectively as the local basketballers regained their poise and pooled efforts in the last half to subdue the flustered Yellow Jackets.

MARCH 10—BIG REDS 39, ST. MARYS 42—It was sudden death for the favored Big Reds in tourney play as the St. Marys Blue Devils walked off with a stirring 42-39 victory in the Section 7-A finals staged in the Park Gymnasium, St. Marys.

Both teams were off on their shooting and played a ragged brand of ball. Not once during the entire game did the Clarkmen have the lead and only during the final quarter were they able to score more points than the Blue Devils.

At halftime the Ingramites left the hardwood with a 20-15 advantage. The third period was nip and tuck with St. Marys edging the Reds 13-12 in the scoring column.

Parkersburg fans were given more hope in the final stanza as the spirited locals closed the gap on their antagonists, but time ran out and their efforts were all in vain. It was the Reds' only bright spot of the entire game. They out-scored the Devils 12-9.

Team captain Jack Mehl, who garnered but six points in the struggle, was awarded the game ball for runners-up. Joe Goebel ended his scholastic cage career with a record of 18 points for high scoring honors of the tourney and a position on the all-tournament along with blond Sonny Langfitt.

Class Play—Mother Is a Freshman

Mrs. Merrill gives the cast their first instructions. Sitting: Allen Barber, Dean Gillingham; Phil Smith, Howie; Martha Gainer, Sylvia; Janet Ashby, Carrie; Stevie Broida, Marge; Barbara Monroe, Clara; Katie Noe, Helen; Margaret Day, Mrs. Miller. Standing: Bruce Hoff, Professor Michaels; Paul Bates, Bill; Bill Somerville, Jack; Jane Barrett, Mrs. Abigail Abbot; Frank Settle, Bobo; Harilyn Stone, Susan. Not in picture: Mabel Moore, Bunny; Jeane Gainer, student director; Mary Ann May, Pat Frye, bookholders.

CLASS PLAY

The Senior Play, Mother Is a Freshman, was presented, under the direction of Mrs. Merrill, to enthusiastic audiences June 1, 2.

The play, which was based on a recent movie, concerned Mrs. Abigail Abbott and her efforts to keep her daughter Susan in college. To do this Abby used a scholarship for which only she was eligible. However, Dean Gillingham was sure it was a publicity stunt and it was all Professor Michaels, who had fallen in love with her, could do to convince the dean otherwise. Susan's boy friend, Bobo, also had his troubles, but by the final curtain, all problems had been eliminated.

The student director was Jeane Gainer, and Mary Ann May and Pat Frye were bookholders.

Accompanists: Harilyn Stone, Barbara Flinn.

Director: Mrs. Esther Cunningham, assisted by Mrs. Isabel Wilson, Miss Ethel Woodyard, Mrs. Margaret Metheny, Mr. Frank Gelber, Miss Marion Layton, Mrs. Virginia Hood, Mrs. Edna Tallman.

The Chimes of Normandy, a long time favorite of light opera enthusiasts, received the approbation of the two audiences for which it was played, March 23, 24. Although flu, severe colds, and near-pneumonia beset the cast and chorus, the show went on, and those on the stage seemed to have as good a time as did those in the audience. The melodious music and the gay costumes against the background of castle towers, walls, and flowers transported us all from our matter-of-fact world to one of make-believe. Laurels again go to the music department and those who assisted.

Sense 'n' Nonsense

What, we wonder, does Janet Ashby see in Lake Washington? Water? Carolyn Ballard liked infirmity duty, especially during the fifth period. Jane Barrett, with her red hair, and Bill George, with his trumpet, will be missed at P.H.S. June Beatty has already settled her future—housewife. Delores Brown may be small, but she's surely lively. We understand Ernestine Chapman will make bowling history. Leona Mae Cheuvront's loyalty to the orchestra resulted in her being president. We wish we had Mary Ann Cook's gift for gab. Martha Lee Gainer's favorite meal is potato chips, potato salad, and french fries. What a little girl Jo-Ann Hite is to have a voice with so much volume. Sarah Low was 102's really studious member. We bet Mary Ann May won't plan any more parties without sending invitations. We'll never forget Suz McGrail in the Journal assembly (those red socks, you know). We predict Mabel Moore will be her students' favorite teacher.

We like Katie Noe in her sophisticated role. We predict a great future for Audrey Peters either in music or journalism. Pat Piersol had a hobby collection too—men. Ocea Reed is just like a sailor—a boy in every port. Will anyone in senior math class ever forget Ruby Gail Romine? Sarah Jane "Spark" Ruf—the live wire of 102. Did Barbara Simonton live in Broughton's, or just eat and sleep there? We always wondered why Marie Spencer was so quiet in homeroom. It seems Cleta Stanley's interest was "Cheeta" Bill Taitt. Lois Starling proved an exception to an old rule—she has red hair and a very agreeable disposition. We predict Harilyn Stone will have a great career as a concert pianist. Poor Patsy Cowan—stuck in the corner in the locker row! She had such a terrible time. It's none of our business, but we wonder how much Nancy is Cousen Bill??? We nominate Eileen Cremer as "North End's biggest Rooter." Did anyone ever find out who Joanne Deems' mystery man is? If 102 had a "cherub," it was Betty Jo Elliott. The long and short of it—Donna Emerick and Dick Kuhl. Wonder why Alice Jean Enoch is called "Inky," when she's always so white? We can never forget Betty Lou Fox at the senior stand. Won't Jeane Gainer be glad to get to W.V.U. for a year, instead of a weekend! Joyce Watkins was one of the quietest girls we ever knew.

Jackie Barnes is P.H.S.'s Margaret Whiting. Norma Jean Baylous was Parkersburg's contribution to the St. Marys centennial. Did you hear about Betty Bowersock's perfect gift last Christmas? We recommend Mildred Buchanan as a super salesman. Ruth Ann Cain was Marcato's most ardent fan. Pauline Corbitt will be the Clara Barton from P.H.S. Carol Crews' activities show she has many interests. Maggie Day made a good house mother, but we think of her as a live wire. Mary Deem's work in the infirmity is proof that experience is a good teacher. Even if Juanita Dye is small, you can't miss her. Her hair shines like burnished copper. Wonder why Edna Eschbacher is called "Shorty?" Through our crystal ball we see Emogene Fletcher winning popularity contests. After writing about so many short girls, it's a pleasure to salute Sue Gilchrist—one of the tallest in the class of 1950. We understand Betty Hammond has wonderfully dreamy eyes! Carolyn Moore makes the sweetest baby! Pat Pennybaker says she was glad to bid senior math a fond good-bye! Oh, to be a typist like Betty Louise Riggs! Shirley Shields' favorite song could easily be "Sleepy Time Gal." Bonnie Skidmore is a top notch athlete.

Regina Smith was the queen of the T-T Art Club. Marian Sprinkle would be an asset to the Big Red baseball team. Joan Torrance proved that married life and school life will mix. Joan Tracewell has succumbed to the spell of black magic, we understand. Betty Mixer's name is appropriate. She's always mixing in something. Mary Montgomery is P.H.S.'s "Blondie." We wish we'd been in Retail Selling, too, to get some of Madeline Sinnott's candy. Mrs. Keyser finally got used to seeing Lois Lee Sprout and that certain someone meeting in front of her room. Wonder what Sue Bever finds so interesting to talk about in home room. Sarah Biram was always so busy with out-of-school activities that she could never seem to be on time to class. Agnes Dawson's home ec. activities prepared her for future life. We know Betty DeQuasie will be a success because she's so practical and friendly. Pat Frye never has to worry about walking home by herself. Elizabeth Haines and Barbara, twin sisters, had to be put into different home rooms because the teachers couldn't tell them apart. Those who needed help with shorthand homework just went to Eva Jean Haight. We expect great things of Agnes Heater in the field of music. We all wish we could crochet the way Lois Hill does.

If all our senior pictures had turned out as well as Jo Ann Hintz's, we'd be well satisfied. We wonder if Mildred Hopkins is as quiet at home as she is in room 303. Bonnie Hurst is just another name for pep. We wonder who gave Regina Johnson the nickname "Johnny?" Why does Eleanor Kirk's hair always look so neat? Can the cafeteria get along without Betty Leach after she graduates? We all wish our brains would function as well as Maxine Lemley's. Most "lemons" are considered "sour," but we're sure that couldn't be said of Peggy Lemon. We wonder why Charlotte Mullins' friends call her "Tiny," and why Gladys Myers is so easy to get along with. Will the art department be able to get along without Josephine O'Brien's beautiful art creations?

Gene Reed and Jim Yoho make up the undecided of P.H.S. Earl Smith should go to Hawaii and teach them a thing or two about hula dancing. We predict Jim Taitt will be the future All-American sports manager. Ivan Tremblay would like to manage the New York Yanks. William Howard Wade will someday become a swimming champion, we believe. We hope Don Whitlatch has as much success as Walt Disney. Russell Willey's activity list seems to indicate he has no interest in sports. Leon Wilson—"Oh captain, our captain! Long live the president." If Charles Allen is as successful out of school as he is in, he will soon own his own shoe store. Maybe someday Bob Carvell will be manager of Penny's. Carl Chaddock's good humor enables him to get along well with everyone. A familiar sight on the horseshoe is friendly Al Clem with his overflowing red Ford. Herbert Dale Johnson is so quiet you never know he's around. Silent but smart would definitely fit Arthur Kirby.

Red hair fits Jerry Lucky's good humor. The fashion plate of P.H.S.—Paul Smith. Is Ray Stanley really the best driver in Parkersburg? Betty Batten always seemed so glad when the 11:30 bell rang. Velda Benson will never henpeck her husband. Betty Blosser and Parma Bowser are such good friends that they even work in the same store. Peggy Caplinger's grace shows itself in her excellent dancing and skating. Could the novels that Ruth Carpenter reads have anything to do with the fact that she's going to be married soon? Our nomination for the blondest secretary in P.H.S.—Norma Clegg. Hilda Ruth Fleak and Martha Fricker might well be called the silent pair of retail selling. Barbara Gates has the qualifications of a detective—she knows everything. Thelma Hall, Kathleen Johnston, and Mary Ellen Smith were the peacemakers of retail selling. Reba Hissam was the belle of the skating rink. Virginia Hulderman is really a good friend to everyone. Olive Lewis' dangle earrings made her look gypsyesque.

Did you ever see Charlie Bassett without—the little Green Dragon? Harry James beware—Ellis Carder is also a "young man with a horn." Will Mr. Warner ever forget his last customer every morning—Jim Channell? We've been looking for Myron Coulter's Toni Twin. Could he be Don "Snarf" Miller? James Coutu was 134's little bombshell from Oak Ridge, Tennessee. 134 had a Casanova too—Don DeVaughn. We found Jim Douglass was as full of static electricity as he was endearing terms. After a year at the refreshment stand, Carroll Dunbar now qualifies as an expert bottle-opener. Mousie "Crime Photographer" Dye—shoots the crimes of P.H.S. We nominate Johnny Eckert our jolly Mr. Five-by-Five. Those who were in physics class with Russ Flinn won't soon forget his witty remarks. We always envied Fred Hinshelwood his unlimited supply of excuses. Through our crystal ball we foresee Bruce Hoff presiding over the U. S. Supreme Court. Did Hugh McCaffery take a "Charlie Atlas Course?" Through our crystal ball we see Charles Meredith setting out on a cross-country bicycle trek. We understand Elverson Owens is quite a lady's man. Through our crystal ball we see Millard Owens at the Met. Jim Paxton had us all guessing about who the lucky mystery girl might be.

Jim Pringle is better known as the top bone twister of H.R. 134. One of Ernest Rice's chief interests is his work with children. Thomas Rippetto was said to be the most studious student in study hall. Joe Ross' alias is "Hollywood Joe." We name Don Russell the perfect stretcher-bearer. Bill Somerville is our nomination for "Mr. Friendly of P.H.S." Tendon Spurgeon was one of the newest and most quiet additions to 134. Why did Mrs. Guinn have to keep one eye on Jack Tebay in home room? We won't forget "Cowboy" Jack Tippens and his inseparable "Harley." We learned that James Townsend has a variety of interests, among them athletics. Why Jack Tracy didn't blow up the school we can't understand. We believe Dan Viers will make another Johnny Lujack. Was there a reason for George Wenmouth's always being sleepy in class? Robert Wesson was the campus star among junior high boys. Burl Wine's driving, we're told, always kept his passengers "up in the air."

Through our crystal ball we see Florence Adams as one of the violinists in the New York Philharmonic. Our sympathy went daily to Helen Allio. She was always the first to her locker and the last to leave. When we think of Helen Black, we remember a wide smile and a happy laugh. We believe Lucy Bowser is destined to be a great violinist. We heard wedding bells will soon be ringing for Ruth Brafford. Evelyn Brake's flair for high school journalism may lead to a vocation in that field. Stevie Broida's "St. Louis Blues" should be changed to Pittsburgh. Sue Burke was the quiet but capable girl with the short, short name. Pat Carder was the girl who was never seen without a smile on her face. Connie Chambers plans to become an interior decorator. Peg Clark's heart was not on school this last year. No one will forget Pete Conner's infectious laughing and talking. We predict Helen Currey will become a biology teacher at P.H.S. Hats off to Saranell Doak, the Louella Parsons of Vienna. Pat Douglas was the Big Red basketball team's smallest biggest noise. Susie Downs is so easily shocked she couldn't even open her locker. We never could understand what Pat Ford had to worry about.

Friday night was Mary Gale's favorite time of the week. Familiar sights on the campus: Shirley Harris swinging into the horseshoe in her green Chevy with Dorothy Nease by her side. There always seemed to be some doubt as to whether it was Seniorita Jo Ann Hoff or Roth. Joe Province is "the cute boy in the black sweater," she says. Don Sams is Vienna's ubiquitous younger citizen. Gale Anthony is another of those skating fiends. Through the grapevine we heard that Harold Hatfield's hobby was girls. Good natured Ray Maxson likes Studebakers, we're told. We wonder what the connection is between North End Paul "Offie" Miller and South Side. Jerry Montgomery's favorite haunt is 2411 Oak Street. Sam Morehead is reported to be "an all 'round good guy." Fred Park was so mischievous, we wonder how he could ever have the patience to hunt coons. Jack Reynolds is a radio fan who likes Mary Ann. Our guess—Haskell Sinclair got his nickname "Hap" because he laughed so much. Carroll Baker is called "Hooker" for two reasons; one is wrestling. We hear Clifton Belknap likes model planes and is also a pool shark. William Chancellor is one of those nice quiet boys with a warm smile. Virgil "Killer" Flinn probably got his nickname from those practical jokes he pulls.

Parties

Reeder "Sparky" Houck is reputed to be one of the nicest guys and the best worker 500 had. We wonder why Gene Cale is called "Wendy?" We hear that Paul Keyse likes to burn the candle at both ends. Bernard Lockhart is said to be one of those big brave coon hunters. Through our crystal ball we see Porter Loudin, World Champion Table Tennis Player. Sheet Metal Shop's contribution to intramurals is Leland Anderson. Owen Loudin must have muscles to carry around that heavy motion picture equipment. Hats off to Eugene Wilson—one of those wonderful, hard-working members of the stage crew. James Yoho seemed to be doing O.K. with his typing this year. Clarice Armstrong's wonderful manners are comparable only with Emily Post's. We hear Jean Parsons is planning on joining the WACS. Good Luck!

Freer Archer and Charles Atkinson were 313's contribution to intramurals. Denzil Boso was one of those strong, silent types. Harold Casto and Harold Eaton are as similar in their likes as Champion and Gene Autry, and that ain't hay. We suggest Bob Hammer try again to grow a mustache. Phil Hill was one of those guys who really liked math. Darrell Jones is very militaristic-minded. He practiced his salute in home room. Carroll Kelley was 313's Sammy Snead. Estel Leach will really shock somebody with his electricity. Charles McCrady was P.H.S.'s Joe DiMaggio. Bill Michael was South Side's contribution to the basketball team. We understand Don Montgomery is one of Vienna's favorite caddies. Do you think Dick Murphy will ever be a good pop slinger? Reports are that Dave Nutter doesn't appreciate our fair city. We hear he is homesick for Fairmont. We wonder how Carl Offenberger finds Marietta these days.

Jim Page's favorite hang out is a phone booth. Bob Parrish won a name for himself because of his debates with his home room teacher. Don "Peppy" Pepper was always after Journal news. Ed Pfalzgraf should enter the Golden Gloves competition if he likes to fight as well as reported. Jim Price was Mr. Bailey's right hand man. Thomas Ritchie and Robert Reed were the long and short of 313. Jim Roberts was 313's president and running mate of Bob Piersol. Carl Ruble is maestro of the famous "Rhythm Kings." Familiar scenes around P.H.S.: Jack Schneid running errands for Mr. Conner. They told us Virgil Scott was the brain of 313. Bob Shaffer will be our future Humphrey Bogart. We all wonder whether Bryan Sennett will follow in his father's footsteps. Edward Stephens' favorite pastime was sleeping. Charles Stone made a wonderful color bearer for the band. Someone said Hollis Summers liked math and basketball. Edward Wendelken was 313's Ceaser Romero—mustache and all. 313's famous hillbilly quartet: Clifford Wilson, Shirley Woody, Bob Parsons, and Bill McFee. We wonder if Charles Archer and Frank Settle still have their truce.

Lucky will be the employer who gets Dorothy Jean Trissler for a secretary. Joan Hayes isn't likely to forget that senior math class very soon. What will the orchestra do without Claire Johnson and her magic bass fiddle? It's safe for Alta Kelley to take the last piece from the plate. Joanne Kelley, we hear, may be a dramatic critic. Margaret Knowles was the friendly blonde at the refreshment stand. We predict Evelyn Lichiello will be a successful lyric writer. We envied Roberta Lieber because she was always so neat. Pat Lofty's friendly manner and cheery smile are valuable assets. Eileen Malson—Why do they call you "Molly." Betty Meredith receives our unanimous vote as being one of the best workers in P.H.S. Phyllis Milhoan's linoleum cuts helped the Journal to be successful. That mop of black hair, shapely figure, and cute outfit coming swiftly down the hall is June Van Horn. We heard Irma Jean Wade is fond of skating. Shirley Wells—Brains, galore! We hope Roberta Wyer soon recuperates from chemistry.

Richard Kellar's favorite pastime was polishing apples in 310. Joe Kiser was 310's little "Harvey." We nominate Jerry Kress as "Clown of the Senior Class." Horses beware!! Horseshoe champion Hugh Lockhart is now on the loose. Sharp competition in national oratorical contests kept Jim McCool's barking in form at the refreshment stand. Barney McGee's favorite song was "Chickery Chick." If G-man Jack Mehl ever gets tired of sleuthing, he can always return to pitching professional baseball. Hats off to Wendell Metz and Clesta Dickson for their splendid supervision of the refreshment stand. Don't let Ronnie Miller's innocent look fool you! Ross Miller was Miss Waller's little pe(s)t. The girls swoon when Jack Reed looks at them with those beautiful eyes. We advise William Reed to continue his drawing. "That's gold in it." For lessons in slow motion strolling, refer to Bob Rexroad. Richard See loves to dissect animals and cars. Fred Shriver—We're still hoping you'll find "your old flame," or have you?

P.H.S. regrets to see Bob Armstrong, the last of the Armstrong boys, graduate. Genial Sam "Bud" Battin's home was everybody's hang-out. When Philip Brossman came to Parkersburg he wore ties, but now he's like the rest of us mountaineers. Ray Congleton has two loves—singing and dancing. Bob "Mandrake" Cottle is also a brain. Without David Cutlip, the Sentinel might never have gone to press. Bill "Tex" Evans-Lombe—the devoted fan of Gene Autry and of all things "Home on the Range." Dave Gallagher knows red hair isn't the sign of a bad temper! Joe Goebel is a real sharpshooter in every way. We wonder if Marv Greenburg's three year study of Latin and his close relationship with Roman mythology had anything to do with Cupid's darts and arrows hitting their mark. Carlin Jackson is proof that good things sometimes come in small packages. Familiar sounds—Ray Johnson saying nothing.

Thanksgiving, 1949, was a red letter day for Betty Summers. Elladean Vance is another senior housewife. Could Murphy's do business without the inseparables, Wilma Vaughn and Thelma Wiseman, dashing in at lunchtime? Allen Barber spent much time in the infirmary, but he was the picture of health. Through our crystal ball we see Bob Barrows as the Gorgeous George of the V.F.W. wrestling matches. Sue Ann Hylbert was one of our really serious students. Billie Lou Jackson's hobby is collecting baseball players and hats. It would be nice if we could all have poise like Jane Kinney's. Charlotte Leavitt's red locks will one day go flying in the breeze as she rides the range. We heard Mary Evelyn McPeck has a passion for baseball. Senorita Mary Lou Montoya was really hep in her espanol, and drove her car the same way. We predict that Virginia Parrish and Mary Lou Smart will someday own a chain of theaters. Pat Prunty certainly was always the leader in the new hair styles. Mimi Reys was really a bundle of dynamite, as anyone could tell you. Why was Joan Rollins always talking about Chicago. Could it be Lyle? Marilyn Sims was the girl with the countless out-of-school activities. We'll be glad to be sick in about four years when Pat Shopene will be a nurse.

We're glad Moundsville sent us Frances Somerville, the girl with the golden voice. We always wished we had eyes like Nadine Sprouse's. We predict Alice Rose Street will be the future editor-in-chief of Scripps-Howard. Annabelle Vincent certainly will make a wonderful secretary. No one can ever forget Mary Ellen Williams' innumerable questions and her many activities—see activity section. Patsy Wright was the chatterbox of 332. Patsy Young will be first in line for a bus ticket to Charleston, June 6.

We wondered why they call Carmen Adams "Tex." His classmates said Edward Cox is a good guy. Ruel Davis was known as 504's shop sheriff. Robert Greene's group had the best average for clean-up this year. The question always was, "What car is Paul Logsdon driving today?" Richard Weinheimer was a swell worker in the stand. Will Hiram Powell and Gene Wilson join a professional stage crew? Bob Pratt said the well dressed business man of 1951 will wear dungarees.

We all wonder if Ralph Smith will become a typing teacher. We nominate Paul "Hossy" Starr for the best known P.H.S. personality. We know Phil Smith will have an effective bedside manner when that M.D. follows his name. Wally Taylor, we hear, is no longer fancy free. David Trout was 310's "Jelly Bean" man. George Wilson was the Bing Crosby of 310. Jack Yankiss is proof that brains and brawn do mix. Marguerite Phillips was the "Rosa Bonheur" of P.H.S. Walkie-Talkie wanted for Pat Pratt! Everyone watch out! Mary Jo Radcliff's nickname is "Speedy." Beware you fellows! Marjory Reed is an athlete. Ruth Robinson likes many things—blonde boys especially. Whoever gets Jo Ann Rogers in his office will be lucky. Margaret Bridges is another bride soon-to-be. Let's all give a cheer for Wilda Caplinger, the cheerful cheerleader. Barbara Daley is known as "Miss Shorthand of 1950." Betty Lee Dennis' favorite occupation is going to the Blennerhassett Tap Room. Joan Dotson was one of the very friendly girls in the class. Will Janice Drake be another one of those movie-mad secretaries?

Wanda Farra would make an excellent English teacher, we think. Barbara Frederick is the girl with two futures, nurse and pianist. Lois Gant has a variety of interests: reading, football, and secretarial work. Pat Greene still reminisces about her wonderful week at Girl's State. We wonder why Naomi Greenwalt was always sick on test days. Mary Griffin was Clarksburg's loss and Parkersburg's gain. Little blonde Ruth Hale wants a career of square-dancing. Roberta Mae Hayes can surely "Tell It to the Marines." We heard Lavaughn Hayhurst's interests were dramatics and football. Hey! that's a "Fishie" nickname you have, Betty Jo Hewitt. Could it be that Phyllis Hopkins and Carl Ruble have common interests? Billie Ruth Hoyler and Joann Melrose were known as the "Chatterboxes of 214." Mary Jo Ireland has a reputation for never being at loss for words. Why is Joan Kesling such a baseball fan? Jane Lanham will be a good mother. Her favorite hobby is baby-sitting.

The first thing we remember about Jean Perkins is that she's so full of life. 1950 is an important year for Pat Rinehart, graduating—getting engaged—and all. What would happen if Judith Sams would cut her long locks! We wonder who that boy is Norma Sennett is constantly dreaming about? Whose convertible interests Rosalee Staats? Jo Ann Summers is one of the prettiest and best presidents the Student Council has ever had. When you see Hazel Tanner, ask her, "How's Fred?" We'll hear wedding bells in the near future for Annie Whitefield. Wanda Wigal is the female Einstein, they say. Where did Peggy Wilcox find all that chewing gum? We all wish we had been as studious as Carolyn Wildman. Floda Wilson is stiff competition for Betty Grable.

We nominate James Carr the "Lord Chesterfield of P.H.S." Donald Flinn is the living proof that "the boy with the winning smile gets the girls." Dale Hunt was the great "ACE" of P.H.S. We understand Robert Naylor likes a quiet evening in front of the fire. Some one said James Woodyard is interested in buying the controlling interest in the Mail Pouch factory. If it's a math problem you have, dial Frank Acree. The three stooges of P.H.S.—John Allman, Jim Bush, and John Boso. Through our crystal ball we see Gene Ammons and his intramural boys. Fleetwood Argabrite's interest in checkers and books will take care of his leisure time. We nominate Greg Ault for the next Olympics swimming champ. 312's smart ones: Ed Benear, Don Hendershot, and Tom Baker. Arlan Neal Boso was busy working for his class and the school. Gene Albert Brown was one of Mr. Spencer's right hand men. Why was Checkers Club so popular with 312, Ted Dille? Ed Divvens is leaving to the junior boys his home room privileges. George Dowler is going to be engaged in cutting forest timber in the North Woods. Through our crystal ball we see Antoine's famous chef—Demo Dukas.

We predict Ada Mae Robinson will one day own her own string of beauty shops. Through our crystal ball we see Edwin Eaton swinging on "Gates." Donald Ellison had a great desire to be the intramural star. Curtis Fleak says he will become a member of the Lonely Hearts now that school is out. Eugene Full was the stalwart on the vo-ag, championship tug of war. William Harless's chief pastime is calling square dances. Erwin Lawson was better known as vo-ag's master mind. William Martin could play "Pa Kettle" if there were any funny parts. Will we ever forget Curtis Rector and his movie star looks, or Gene Townsend and his familiar acrobatic volleyball maneuvers in intramurals. Doris Sams's hobby was collecting pictures. Wonder why Mrs. Huffman always called on Martha Sams to read. Betty Sue Sims was one of our most athletic girls. Wilma Sims cultivated a worthwhile hobby—cooking, the way to a man's heart. We heard Mary Sinnett is a swimming enthusiast and Reta Thorne likes athletics. Ruth Schultz is noted for her pretty smile.

Say, Ray Allen, just what is this Bachelor Club of which you're president? Vernon Davis with his facetious gestures was the life of the machine shop. Elmer Emerick is machine shop's candidate for Mr. America. If everyone had Robert Hannaman's patience and good nature, this would be a wonderful world. It's too bad Jack Nohe is one of those bachelors, too. We hope Clyde Phillips's experiences with machinery will prove useful in farming. Discussing Fred Tice, our reporter says, "HE's cute! and SHE lives on Route 21." We predict a great future for Robert Williams in the art of cabinet making. Nobody would believe it, but we heard that Robert Wright had a secret love. To find Don Butler, look for Don Sams. Gene Gilchrist, Calvin Ford, and David Buckley were 500's inseparable trio. Curtis Fouse and Dan Jones—500's Damon and Pythias. James Murphy—the Casanova of Murphytown.

Violet Marks always has fun—remember the senior party? Mary McCauley is the Ginger Rogers from P.H.S. Notice how interested Joan McPherson was in the Bop Quintet? The Hattie Carnegie of P.H.S. was Joanne Nowery. Dorothy O'Conn was 214's platinum blonde. Nancy Lee must have got tired of being asked her last name. Marjorie Bargeloh, we heard, would like another year of chemistry. What will Naomi Blair do without home room? It surely would have been nice to be studious like Wanita Boggess. We wonder what would happen if everyone had answered "Present" to Mary Lou Brafford's roll call in Student Council. What is Mr. Warner going to do without Beatrice Brown? What did Gayla Bryant find so interesting in Sistersville? In home room Kledyth Buckley is quiet as a mouse—outside too? Emmogene Byrd was a Marcato fan. Patricia Cannon really likes to do things in a big way. What would have happened if Joan Devol had asked someone in the hall for a pass slip, or if Joann Edgell had kept still for just one minute.

What would Naomi Exline have done without home room to primp in? Can the cafeteria function next year without Ota Galland? Everybody knows friendly Pat Gilbert. Irene Goudy was always devoted to duty. We wondered about Joan Grogan's mysterious letters. Alberta Hoschar should write a book entitled "The Purpose of Study Period." We know Sharon Kootz will be a successful nurse. We predict a journalistic career for Charlotte Life. Lyril Marion had trouble all year explaining her name. We hope Evelyn McAtee will be successful in the missionary field. What would have happened if Barbara Monroe had ever got to a class on time? What would home room 110 have done without Anita Morgan? It's a shame Barbara and Jean Parsons weren't born twins; they seem inseparable.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have beautiful curly hair like Jackie Radcliff's? We understand Barbara Rittenhouse was another frequent visitor to 116-A. We all wish we had ambition and brains like Bonnie Simmons. We think Anna Stumbo should have been on the door committee. We heard Betty Wertenbaker was quite a book worm. Iva Wise had an enviable record both in grades and attendance. Corinna Yoho was always very talkative and active. We're glad Washington sent us Vera Ritchea. We suggest that Mary Elizabeth Ahart become a writer. We hear Eileen Badgley liked working at the Y.M. Norma Blair's favorite song is the "Marine Hymn." We wished we had hair like Ellen Bonnett's. We predict Corinne Combs will make a wonderful housewife, and Julia Corey an ideal secretary. Dorothy Dawson will probably be a "great" in the art of taking shorthand.

Janet Lou Deem is our future court reporter. The inseparables: Barbara Dotson and Sandra Dye, whether it be work or play. We wonder what Freda Flesher saw in Toledo besides television. Barbara Haines—right hand man to Dean Musgrave and Mr. Warner. Irene Hickman's heart seemed to be in the trade school. Laurine Kirby may well become Parkersburg's poet laureate. We predict a great future for Annabell Layman in the field of art. Could anyone ever resist Charlotte Mackey's beautiful eyes? The love of Jean McKibben's life was a typewriter. We wish you luck with the filling of your hope chest, Dorothy McNemar. When we think of Mary Lou Moore, we remember first those beautiful dimples. We know Ruth Pickering must have liked working at the trade school. Everybody thought Mary "Marg" Smith was a really wonderful girl. Betty Snyder always had a tussle with her locker; the lock was on backwards, you know. Leona Uhl should remember to tie a string around her finger. Peggy Van Camp's boss will appreciate her pleasing personality. Mary Ann Williams was great fun—that's for sure.

Paul Eaton was the biggest booster of the Big Reds. Joe Folwell, we heard, will major in intramurals in college. Bob Graham plans to be a general in the army. Donald King was the silent knight of 312. James McGee was the second period typing class's wonder boy. Gene Myers leaves his seat in 312 to another hopeful sophomore. Robert Myers bears a close resemblance to Daniel Boone—cap and all. Do you suppose Herman Oldaker will become a member of the Lonely Hearts Club now that school is out? Robert Pickering is the free enterprising boy of P.H.S. Albert Beaty has sealed the interstate relations between Belpre and Parkersburg. Carl Beaumont, we found, was a quiet, studious boy. Where was Nancy "Sluggo" Blaine Beymer? Gene Bissell was Count Basie of P.H.S. Emmer Braham was the boy with the two voices. Fenton Brannon, cheerleader, and what cheering he led! They tell us Jack Casto never had anything to say. A sight seldom seen, Gary Cooper without Lewis "Astaire" Dobson. Can you ever forget Bob Dugan's laugh during a movie?

For an example of crew hair cuts, see Dick Durnell. John Dye was 321's busy president and Bob Evans was 321's contribution to the Big Red Band. We'll never forget the tap dance twins, Lois and Louis Farnsworth. Michael Farrah was the "Mighty Joe Young" of P.H.S. 321 also had a great story teller—Jack Flesher. We heard George Harper likes a good fight. There will always be a future for Gene Harris, running motion picture cameras and selling popcorn. We wondered where Charles Hudson got so much to talk about? Our hats are off to the studious boys—Harley and Harvey Jenkins. Don Long's artistic ability is bound to get him some place. Why did they call Glen McLaughlin "Shorty"? Did Smith Oldham really get all those great big fish? Jack Phillips's favorite color is brown. Bob Piersol was 321's Vaughn Monroe. We predict a great future for Bill Roberts when he takes over Bob Hope's job.

Betty Bargeloh liked chemistry, too, we heard. Roberta Jo Heck apparently believes the world was made for fun and frolic. Nancy Noblin is one of the most loyal rooters for Girl's State. Rosemary Sheppard's interests were varied enough to keep life from becoming boring. Edna Sheets was another of the lucky (?) few who weren't in school during the afternoon. Only the first half of that old phrase refers to Doris Rardin—"beautiful." We have been racking our inadequate (in this case we'll admit) brains trying to figure the relation between intramurals and checkers, but to no avail; however, we know there is one because Jewel Turner, William Watson, Roy Wilson, and William Zickefoose pair them in their activity lists. Our guess is that participation in sports was the chief interest of John Uhl and Bill Horner. Ray Taylor, we heard, was one of the wood shop's top men. No one is likely to forget Claude Fouse's imitation of "Jo-Jo, the Ape Boy." Unless our guess is very poor, Bob McCoy will one day be a noted artist.

Dick Gilbert was an all-round sportsman and a good friend. Whether it was work or fun Dan Lounney was always "Johnny on the spot." We understood that Merlyn Sandy was kept busy with his intramural managing. There's no doubt that Ida May and Mary were the Life(s) of the senior class. Many of us wish we could exchange statures with Marian Ludwig. Our prediction is that Mary McAtee will make a good housewife. We all liked Mary Jane Smith's short auburn curls. Charlotte Wood always had an interesting viewpoint on all subjects. We bet Paul Bates won't underbid his hand next time. We think Bill Schroeder could double for Clark Gable. Too bad Ava June Whitlatch is already promised—too bad for the other boys, that is. Norma King had a variety of interests, we heard. Too bad we didn't have a girl's basketball team while we had Pat and Sue Kinney. Frances Fox, we heard, has become a baseball fan. If you ever need a true friend, look up Betty Donahue.
